Contempt Case Goes Next To Supreme Court

Mine Boss Ignores $3,510,000 Fines, Showing Outward Determination To Carry On Fight To Bitter End.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Truman has decided to make a nationwide speech within a few days, in which he will appeal to the soft coal miners to return to work. Authoritative sources said today the time for Mr. Truman's speech had not been definitely fixed but that it would take place within the next three or four days.

By STERLING F. GREEN

WASHINGTON—(AP)—John L. Lewis grimly carried the crushing coal strike into its third week today despite $3,510,000 in fines, prospect of a new contempt citation and the threat of the Smith-Conally Act.

From every outward indication, the bushy-browed miners' leader was determined to take jail, or what may come, rather than yield to a court order he contends is illegal and withdraw his termination of the UMW's contract with the government.

With the grim deadlock confronting the country, a group of railway unions issued a plea that Lewis and the government both call the whole thing off and let a presidential commission settle all issues.

The association's proposal was regarded in some quarters as a possible peace feeler inspired by the United Mine Workers' own AFL. Several of the rail unions are affiliated with the AFL.

There was no immediate comment from government officials or from the UMW.

Attorneys for the Mine Workers and for the government pressed plans to get an early supreme court ruling on the contempt of court conviction under which Federal District Judge T. Alan Goldsborough fined the UMW $3,500,000 and Lewis $10,000 personally.

If the strike goes on, justice department officials said they could start a second contempt action. This could bring a jail sentence for Lewis instead of just a fine, and could bite another great piece out of UMW's $13,500,000 treasury.

A fine of $250,000 a day—as it figured out for the first 14 days of the strike—is suitable penalty for the "hunger and cold, and unemployment and destitution" which has been caused, Goldsborough ruled.

The court emphasized also that Lewis deserved jail, in his opinion, and only escaped it because the government so recommended.

A federal official, who is in daily touch with government strategy, told reporters that evidence is being collected to support prosecution under the Smith-Connally Act. He intimated that whether it is actually brought about would depend on developments.

This law, also known as the War Labor Disputes Act, forbids strikes against the government and provides a top penalty of $5,000 and one year in jail for persons who "coerce, instigate, induce, conspire with or encourage" any strike in a government-held plant.

Goldsborough already has ruled that Lewis has instigated, induced and encouraged the soft coal strike.

General Strike Ends When City Agrees Police Will Respect Picket Lines.

OAKLAND, Calif. —(AP)— The city of Oakland and AFL leaders today reached an agreement to end a general strike which has strangled commerce in East Bay cities for two days.

Oakland City Manager John F. Hassler said a return to work order would be given to all union business agents at a meeting today. (1 p. m. E. S. T.).

A union statement confirmed the agreement based on the conditions that police would not be used in breaking picket lines and that city officials remain neutral in labor disputes. Hassler said he gave assurances meeting the union conditions.

The agreement was reached at an early morning meeting after some 1,000,000 East Bay residents found all transportation tied up, food and other necessities in short supply and the city of Oakland under a state of emergency with full police powers voted to the mayor.

The general strike, fifth of its kind in the history of the American labor movement, moved toward a close shortly after announcement that the AFL Teamsters Union and the Independent Machinists Union would go back to work today.

Still struck were the Kahn and Hastings retail stores, source of the original dispute last October when the Retail Merchant association declined to negotiate a contract for the two stores alone, but held out for blanket negotiations for all member stores when and if the union could show a majority of employes were union members.

The general strike began Tuesday after escorts of Berkeley and Oakland police convoyed 12 truckloads of merchandise into the two stores, through picket lines, on Sunday morning.

Maybe This Thief Has Bad Eyes, Too

KANSAS CITY—(AP)—A purse-snatcher left Mrs. Gertrude Wald short-changed but not short-sighted After he grabbed her purse and started to run, she called out that her new glasses were in the handbag.

The man laid her glasses carefully on the grass, then fled with the purse.

Town Loyal; Wants Only Union Coal

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Rather than buy coal dug by non-union miners, the schools in the Chauncey-Dover exempted village school district in Athens county have closed, Supt. W. G. Davis advised the state department of education today.

He wrote that the Solid Fuels Administration seized a carload of coal shipped to the schools from a Chauncey mine, then advised the schools to buy coal from non-union mines.

"Our community," Davis' letter said, "is a miners' community, and nearly all are members of the UMW, and it would be very unwise to attempt to use non-union mined coal."

The schools closed yesterday after their supply of coal was exhausted.

24 DIE IN RIOTS

CALCUTTA —(UP)— Twenty-four persons have been killed and 44 injured during four days of Hindu-Moslem rioting in the Dacca district of East Bengal, according to reports reaching Calcutta today. Several cases of arson were reported. Three women were among those killed.

Christmas trees, thousands of them, began t parking lots and at store sites in Mansfield today thousands of them may never arrive because freight embargo.

Dealers reported today that the city may be shy 10 evergreens unless the embargo against railshipment of freight is lifted before the holiday.

Most of the city's usual supply of trees comes from Pennsylvania, New England and Canada

While chances are that the supply of the traditional shrubs will not improve, current prices still are not much above those of last year.

A survey of the stores and nurseries offering trees for sale reveals a price range from 59 cents to $8 or $9 per tree, depending upon size and shape.

AS IN PREVIOUS YEARS, the Christmas shopper can buy either live trees, with earth "bulbs" wrapped neatly around the roots, or the cut variety which are intended for use only during the holiday season and then are burned for firewood or cast away.

Montgomery Ward and company yesterday received a shipment of 4,000 trees, all balsam, from Maine, just under the embargo wire, C. S. Bevier, manager of the hardware and farm department, reported.

"We have (or had) another carload on the way but I imagine the ban will stop them," he said.

The trees his company are marketing will be offered for sale on the vacant lot at the rear of the store on North Walnut street. They range from three to 12 feet in height.

Following his annual custom, John Hattery, jr., will have about 3,000 trees for sale holidays. Some of t be brought from M others from his farm, They will include long balsam, red and Sco Norway spruce. Hatte them on display on east and at the Ra home, 141 Marion av

Anti-Embarrassment Chri For Aiding Mans

A plan to assure more Mansfield families of a good Christmas dinner and to prevent embarrassment for those receiving Christmas baskets was announced today by Mrs. Jane Williams, executive secretary of the Mansfield Community Fund.

The social service office will continue to act as a clearing house for organizations, clubs, churches and individuals who want to give baskets, Mrs. Williams said, but the names of families who will receive the baskets will be withheld.

"By clearing the baskets through this office, more families will be remembered and distribution made wider," Mrs. Williams added.

Trapping's Big Business For Ohioans

Figures compiled by Daniel L. Leedy, leader of the wildlife research unit of Ohio State university in cooperation with the Ohio division of conservation reveal that Ohio's raw fur dealers handled 957,086 fur pelts during the 1945-46 season, according to reports from 781 fur buyers.

Average pelt selling prices based on purchase records of 20 licensed fur dealers reveal that the 1945-46 season represented a two and one-half billion dollar business. These figures do not include the estimated 17 per cent of all pelts that are sold outside the state and therefore were not included in the reports.

The average price paid by dealers for furs including red fox, gray fox, mink, muskrat, opossum, raccoon, skunk and weasel was $2.42. The highest average of $21.15 per pelt was paid for mink and the lowest, 60 cents, for opossum. Of the 957,086 pelts purchased by buyers, 735,377 were muskrat.

Figures for the past eight years show that the fur take has remained almost unbelievably steady and that although the 1945-46 figure was slightly under the total for the 1940-41 season the past three seasons have shown steady increases. This is in line with the division of conservation report that fur bearing animals have shown a decided increase in population this year, especially the raccoon and muskrat.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

How to Stop Worrying

I guess folks in our town do about as much worrying as in yours—over housing and prices, and crops, and jobs—and the little domestic problems that are always coming up.

Dad Hoskins, who's lived to the happy age of eighty, has a simple formula for stopping worry. About every problem, he asks himself: Is there anything I can do about it? If there is, he never postpones making a decision, or taking necessary action.

If there isn't anything he can do about it, he sets aside a "worrying hour" after dinner, and gets his worrying over in one concentrated period. When that's over, he relaxes over a friendly glass of beer with Ma Hoskins—and they talk about pleasant things together, until bedtime.

From where I sit, that's as workable a formula as you could find ... right down to the mellow glass of beer that seems to wash away your worries.

Prostate Gland Trouble?

I'm a railroad man and for over 3 years had difficulty working because of backaches due to Prostate Gland trouble. Doctor's formula proved of great benefit and before and since his death have sold them (now called Watt's Suppositories) to railroad men and others the country over. Fine testimonials and repeat business show the good work they do. Backache, getting up nights, often indicate an inflamed Prostate Gland. I guarantee your money back if not given relief. One Dozen Watt's Suppositories, $1.25; 2½ dozen for $2.50. For Sale at Lautsbaugh Pharmacy.—Adv.

Bedtime Stories

—By Thornton W. Burgess

WAS IT WASTE?

Hasty judgments are more often wrong than right. When they are wrong they usually lead straight to trouble for some one, or to injustice to some one.

"So I am wasteful, am I?" repeated Prickly Porky the Porcupine. He was up in a hemlock tree looking down at Peter Rabbit and Jumpy the Hare on the snow covered ground. He talked with his mouth full, which always is impolite, but Prickly Porky cares nothing about politeness. I suspect that he is one of those mistaken people who think that being impolite is a form of independence, which it never is. "Who says I'm wasteful?" he added, and dropped a small branch from which he had eaten some, but not all, of the leaves and tenderest twigs. He reached out to bite off another.

"I do," replied Jumper. He hopped over to that fallen little branch and began eating the green leaves remaining on it.

Prickly Porky's eyes, shoe button eyes they sometimes are called, held a small gleam. It looked very like a gleam of amusement. "Does it taste good?" he asked.

"It couldn't taste better," replied Jumper. "Lightfoot the Deer and his family have eaten everything of this kind within reach around here and that is rather hard on me," replied Jumper.

Peter Rabbit was nibbling at another little branch dropped by Prickly Porky, but this wasn't the kind of food he enjoys. He doesn't belong in the Green Forest. He doesn't live there as his big cousin does. He was just visiting.

"I didn't suppose you live on waste," mumbled Prickly Porky, chewing away on some tender little twigs with their odd little short needle-like leaves.

"Who says I live on waste?" demanded Jumper sharply.

"Didn't you say I am wasteful?" asked Prickly Porky.

"You are," retorted Jumper. "You are dropping as much as you are eating. If that isn't being wasteful I don't know what wastefulness is."

"Then what I drop must be waste," grunted Prickly Porky.

Jumper didn't say anything. Prickly Porky dropped another little green spray. "Isn't it?" he persisted.

"It would be if I hadn't happened along," replied Jumper.

"But you did happen along, and you don't think it is being wasted," said Prickly Porky.

Jumper agreed that what he was eating wasn't being wasted. He had to. Food that feeds hungry folks is never wasted and Jumper really was hungry. The days of plenty and easy living were over until Old Man Winter should give way to sweet Mistress Spring. There would be many times in the days ahead when Jumper would be hungry and find little to eat.

"So if what I drop isn't wasted it can't be that I am wasteful," grunted Prickly Porky, climbing out on another limb.

Jumper said nothing because he didn't know what to say. It did seem that Prickly Porky was right, yet he had a feeling that he was wrong and of course he was. His prickly neighbor up above was wasteful even though the food he dropped wasn't wasted. You see he wasn't dropping those twigs and little branches only half stripped of their green leaves as gifts to Jumper. He would have dropped them just the same if Jumper hadn't been around. He was dropping them because he was in the midst of plenty and it was easier, or he thought it was, to reach out for another little branch than to eat all that was good on one he had Or perhaps he imagined that what he hadn't got would taste better than what he had got. Somehow it often seems that that which we haven't must be better than that which we have. Anyway Prickly Porky was wasteful and the fact that what he wasted was being made use of didn't make him any the less so. But was what he dropped waste? Jumper didn't think so. What do you think?

THIEVES TAKE TROUSERS, TREE

Christmas trees and tree boughs headed the list of a series of thefts reported to police yesterday and early today.

Wade and Gatton, of Bellville, told officers that 25 trees and 400 pounds of boughs were stolen from a Fourth and Mulberry street lot here yesterday. They placed a value of $100 on the Yuletide loot.

Mechanics' tools and clothing, valued at $97, were recovered at the rear of the First Methodist church not long after they were stolen.

The tools, worth about $65, were owned by Dwight Milo, Mansfield R. D. 4, and were stolen from his car yesterday while it was parked on Park avenue east.

The clothing, valued at $32, included three pairs of trousers. They were owned by the Fashion Lane clothiers, North Diamond street, and stolen last night while the store manager, Martin Lewis, was unloading clothing from a car.

Police were holding for their owner, J. Weber, of Perrysville, two pairs of trousers and three shirts, found yesterday at the rear of a Spring street home. Laundry markings identified the clothing, officers said.

SEAGOING MANSFIELD FAMILY—Carrying on a family tradition for service with the navy dating back to Dewey at Manila are Mansfielders Bruce, John, Don, and (inset) Sally McLaughlin whose combined service during World War II totaled more than 10 years.

* * * * *

Mansfield Family Has Served In Navy Nearly Half Century

By AL PREYER

Landlocked Mansfield has a seagoing family which looks with pride upon a line of fathers, sons, and brothers who have served their country at sea as far back as Admiral George Dewey at the battle of Manila bay.

When Robert Eugene McLaughlin, 257 Wood street, entered on a minority cruise with the navy last month he had this reputation established before him to serve as his inspiration.

Great-grandfather McLaughlin served in Dewey's fleet which, on May 1, 1898, during the Spanish American War annihilated a Spanish squadron at Manila Bay without losing a single American life.

* * *

THE McLAUGHLIN NAVAL heritage has been broken only once and that was by Grandfather McLaughlin who served in the army during the first World war.

The navy came into its own again during World War II when four members of the McLaughlin clan saw service totaling over 10 years.

John Oliver, Robert's father, first saw duty with the merchant marine and had an exciting time of it. Five days, which seemed like five lifetimes, were spent in an open life boat off Durbin, South Africa, after John's vessel was torpedoed. That wasn't enough, so he enlisted in the navy and served on an LST in such campaigns as Leyte and Okinawa.

Robert's uncles, Bruce and Don, had their share of naval activity, too. Bruce served as a pharmacist's mate for three years during which period he was stationed at various posts throughout the nation.

* * *

DON HAD THE TICKLISH job of working on a mine-sweeper in the Pacific area The list of this vessel's accomplishments and awards tells in the most effective way the valuable contribution to the war effort made by this vessel in the Saipan, Iwo Jima and Okinawa campaigns. It was credited with seven planes, one submarine, three invasions, and 15 mines, and receiving citation for fighting off numerous Japanese suicide attacks.

Even the women of the McLaughlin family became imbued with navy tradition. Robert's aunt, Sally, served as a yoeman first class in the naval inspector's office in Dayton during the second World war.

Asked what it was that gave this family the urge toward the sea Don's reply was: "The navy's a good outfit."

John looked back over the years and said that he thought it was a case of environment and family tradition. "You see," he said, "before coming to Mansfield about 10 or 15 years we grew up on the Great Lakes and were all seagoing. I served at sea 13 years before joining the navy."

"I am very proud of my son, Robert," John said. "He is not only following the family tradition but is doing what he wants to do and what I have dreamed of having him do since he was a baby."

Firemen, Unable to Fight Fire, Help Remove Furniture.

Fate has been working overtime to give the Clarence Dotsons, of Lexington, R. D. 1, a cheerless Christmas.

Fire destroyed the family's Hanley road home last night. Three weeks ago the barn at the Dotson farm was wiped out by flames.

Mrs. Dotson is in General hospital where she gave birth to a daughter two days ago.

Mansfield firemen who voluntarily went to the site of the Washington township home last night to help fight the blaze said the home was beyond saving before they arrived.

Laws prevent Mansfield fire equipment from being sent outside Madison township. Firemen who went to the home, however, said the apparatus would have been useless, anyway. The flames were discovered at 7:30 p. m.

Local firemen saved some of the furniture before flames got to it. "Shot gun shells, ignited by the flames, were popping all around," said one fireman.

Firemen said origin of the blaze is unknown. It spread quickly through the sixroom, log-based home and was well under way before it was discovered by neighbors.

Dotson, employed at the Mansfield Tire and Rubber company, was at work when the fire broke out. The Dotsons' two other children were away, too.

Firemen quoted Dotson as saying, as he surveyed the smoldering logs: "These clothes, I have on my back—and the furniture that was saved—that's all I own, now."

TRUSTIES OUT AT SANDUSKY

The state welfare department today announced that trusties from the Mansfield reformatory, who have worked for a number of years at the Sandusky Soldiers and sailors' home, would be removed after Jan. 1.

The announcement came after reports from Sandusky disclosed an unnamed veterans' organization had circulated petitions asking the Mansfield men's removal, according to the Associated Press.

Welfare Director Frazier Reams, however, instructed Arthur L. Glattke, superintendent at Mansfield, to keep 90 men at the Sandusky home until outside help could be obtained. The letter said Reams had been assured by J. Ernest Giffin of Bellaire, president of the Sandusky board of trustees, that sufficient money to hire outside help would be budgeted for 1947.

Reams long has opposed having Mansfield inmates serve the home at Sandusky, but the institution has contended that it had no money to hire outside help.

New Curb Hits Travel On Eve Of Yule Rush

Pennsy to Take Off New York to Chicago Fliers Sunday Night As Dwindling Coal Supplies Force Drastic Curtailment.

Mansfield travellers today received a hard blow to holiday plans as two of the leading railroads serving the city announced cancellation of 15 passenger trains through here, effective at midnight Sunday.

With the strangling coal strike in its 15th day, the Pennsylvania railroad agent here, H. R. Williams, said 13 trains passing through Mansfield will be withdrawn. The Erie railroad announced cancellation of two trains between Chicago and Jersey City, N. J.

Only railroad here which will not cut passenger service in connection with the Office of Defense Transportation order is the Baltimore and Ohio railroad.

The B and O, which has only two passenger trains daily serving Mansfield, said service here would not be affected by the ODT order. The cut will be made on other sections of the road, an official said.

Crack Trains Stopped.

Many of Pennsylvania's crack trains passing through Mansfield will be cancelled under the order issued today. The list of cancelled trains affecting Mansfield, and time of arrival here, follows:

ENDRISS NAMED TO HEAD DRIVE

Campaign For Friendly House to Open Dec. 16.

The public drive for $60,000 which will aid in financing a new $235,000 Friendly House building will be conducted between Dec. 16 and Jan. 15, under the direction of Paul W. Endriss, campaign chairman, Russell Gimbel, director of the settlement announced today.

The Friendly House board of directors met today to work out details of the campaign, including the appointment of the campaign committee and its division chairmen and the selection of a slogan.

Headquarters for the campaign will be in the R. E. Moorhead auto showrooms, 37 Park avenue west. Publicity manager will be Coleman Todd, Gimbel said.

Endorse Campaign.

Lending impetus to the campaign was the "100 per cent endorsement" of the Friendly House program by the Richland County Industrial Union Council (CIO) last night.

W. F. McCartney, president of the council, said that each of the member unions of the council will conduct its own solicitation of funds.

The city's two largest unions, Local 711, United Electrical Local 711, United Electrical Workers (CIO), and Local 17, United Rubber Workers (CIO), pledged their efforts in behalf of the campaign at the plants of the Westinghouse Electric corporation and the Mansfield Tire and Rubber company.

Joseph Hawkins, president of Local 711, said his union would confer with Westinghouse officials on the method of solicitation and Desmond Walker, president of Local 17, said it was "very likely" that the drive at that plant would be handled through the joint labor-management committee.

The campaign for the $60,000, presented as part of "Operation Tomorrow" by the Citizens Committee on Social Survey, has been approved by the Public Appeals Review board.

OFFICIALS PLAN TRAFFIC STUDY

A "cross section of opinion" on the problems of highway traffic in and about Mansfield, including the feasibility of relocating some of the major arteries leading into the city, is being sought by the Richland County Auto club.

Jack Berger, secretary of the club, announced today that a meeting of city and state highway department officials, Auto club and Chamber of Commerce representatives, and all other interested persons is to be called to consider the traffic problem later in December.

"The traffic and parking headaches now with us are bound to become worse as time goes on unless action is taken. The Auto club has always been interested in them and feels that a forum of all interested persons will aid in their solution," Berger said.

Berger said he hoped officials of division three, state department of highways, city traffic officials and other interested persons will attend the meeting.

The club's proposal is in line with a program recently adopted by local automobile associations as the result of action taken by the American Automobile association at San Francisco. A plank in the AAA's program calls for the "establishment in all communities, large and small, of an agency armed with authority and resources to solve the parking problem."

SHILOH MAN KILLS DEER, FINED $150

Shooting a deer in northern Richland county cost Garner B. Smith, Shiloh R. D. 1, a $150 fine and $5.50 court costs yesterday in Justice of Peace Jud Egner's court at Shiloh.

Smith was arrested by Game Warden C. I. Kimmel of Richland county and Joseph Walker of Huron county on a charge of shooting a deer in Butler township.

A few deer have drifted into the county from Pennsylvania, but Kimmel emphasized that there's no open season on them. Smith is the second Richland countian to be fined $150 this fall for killing deer.

U. S. SENDS COAL TO HELP GALION

GALION — Mayor William Amann today ordered Galion industries to resume operations Monday.

The industries closed down today, throwing more than 3,000 men out of work, after a critical coal shortage at the municipal power plant forced the drastic measure.

Mayor Amann said the government had promised delivery of a carload of coal a day from West Virginia. He said the first carload was expected "within a few days."

Niemoeller Urges World Communion

SEATTLE — (UP) — The Rev. Martin Niemoeller, German Protestant leader, called today for a world communion of Protestant churches, but admitted the German church "is a feeble member" of world Christianity.

Niemoeller, whose refusal to forsake Christianity for Hitlerism cost him eight years in Nazi concentration camps, spoke last night at the biennial meeting of the federal council of Churches of Christ in American.

AMBASSADORSHIP GOES TO GARDNER

WASHINGTON — (INS) — General approval is being expressed in Washington on the appointment of O. Max Gardner, undersecretary of the treasury, as the new American ambassador to Great Britain.

While Gardner has had little experience in diplomatic ranks, he was viewed as a strong, capable appointee for the post. He has won widespread success as a lawyer, politician and manufacturer.

Gardner, who was born at Selby, N. C., March 22, 1882, served as governor of his home state from 1929 to 1933. During this time he received distinction by building public roads while reducing state taxes and economizing in government.

Nation's Industry Faces Paralysis

PITTSBURGH — (U.P.) — Steel corporations announced new cutbacks today and scores of factories planned to close this week end as a result of the combined effect of the soft coal strike and the freight embargo, effective at midnight.

The number of persons already made idle by the mine strike approached the million mark, including the 400,000 coal diggers, and the number may be doubled next week.

Youngstown Sheet & Tube company reported that it was operating at only 30 per cent of capacity and further cutbacks might be necessary. The firm already has furloughed 8,000 employes.

Republic Steel Corporation will cutback production from 65 to 20 per cent tomorrow. Between 5,000 and 8,000 Republic employes already have been laid off.

Total number of unemployed in the basic steel industry is 60,000 and this may be trebled within a week when finishing mills and fabricators begin curtailing production.

With schedules reduced drastically the railroads were expected to furlough thousands of employes next week. Already 30,000 rail workers have been laid off.

The automobile industry, which employs 500,000 workers, will shut down as soon as existing supplies and storage space is consumed. The same outlook faces most other industries throughout the United States.

Contempt Case Goes Next To Supreme Court

Mine Boss Ignores $3,510,000 Fines, Showing Outward Determination To Carry On Fight To Bitter End.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Truman has decided to make a nationwide speech within a few days, in which he will appeal to the soft coal miners to return to work. Authoritative sources said today the time for Mr. Truman's speech had not been definitely fixed but that it would take place within the next three or four days.

By STERLING F. GREEN

WASHINGTON—(AP)—John L. Lewis grimly carried the crushing coal strike into its third week today despite $3,510,000 in fines, prospect of a new contempt citation and the threat of the Smith-Conally Act.

From every outward indication, the bushy-browed miners' leader was determined to take jail, or what may come, rather than yield to a court order he contends is illegal and withdraw his termination of the UMW's contract with the government.

With the grim deadlock confronting the country, a group of railway unions issued a plea that Lewis and the government both call the whole thing off and let a presidential commission settle all issues.

The association's proposal was regarded in some quarters as a possible peace feeler inspired by the United Mine Workers' own AFL. Several of the rail unions are affiliated with the AFL.

There was no immediate comment from government officials or from the UMW.

Attorneys for the Mine Workers and for the government pressed plans to get an early supreme court ruling on the contempt of court conviction under which Federal District Judge T. Alan Goldsborough fined the UMW $3,500,000 and Lewis $10,000 personally.

If the strike goes on, justice department officials said they could start a second contempt action. This could bring a jail sentence for Lewis instead of just a fine, and could bite another great piece out of UMW's $13,500,000 treasury.

A fine of $250,000 a day—as it figured out for the first 14 days of the strike—is suitable penalty for the "hunger and cold, and unemployment and destitution" which has been caused, Goldsborough ruled.

The court emphasized also that Lewis deserved jail, in his opinion, and only escaped it because the government so recommended.

A federal official, who is in daily touch with government strategy, told reporters that evidence is being collected to support prosecution under the Smith-Connally Act. He intimated that whether it is actually brought about would depend on developments.

This law, also known as the War Labor Disputes Act, forbids strikes against the government and provides a top penalty of $5,000 and one year in jail for persons who "coerce, instigate, induce, conspire with or encourage" any strike in a government-held plant.

Goldsborough already has ruled that Lewis has instigated, induced and encouraged the soft coal strike.

ACCORD HALTS OAKLAND TIEUP

General Strike Ends When City Agrees Police Will Respect Picket Lines.

OAKLAND, Calif. —(AP)— The city of Oakland and AFL leaders today reached an agreement to end a general strike which has strangled commerce in East Bay cities for two days.

Oakland City Manager John F. Hassler said a return to work order would be given to all union business agents at a meeting today. (1 p. m. E. S. T.).

A union statement confirmed the agreement based on the conditions that police would not be used in breaking picket lines and that city officials remain neutral in labor disputes. Hassler said he gave assurances meeting the union conditions.

The agreement was reached at an early morning meeting after some 1,000,000 East Bay residents found all transportation tied up, food and other necessities in short supply and the city of Oakland under a state of emergency with full police powers voted to the mayor.

The general strike, fifth of its kind in the history of the American labor movement, moved toward a close shortly after announcement that the AFL Teamsters Union and the Independent Machinists Union would go back to work today.

Still struck were the Kahn and Hastings retail stores, source of the original dispute last October when the Retail Merchant association declined to negotiate a contract for the two stores alone, but held out for blanket negotiations for all member stores when and if the union could show a majority of employes were union members.

The general strike began Tuesday after escorts of Berkeley and Oakland police convoyed 12 truckloads of merchandise into the two stores, through picket lines, on Sunday morning.

Maybe This Thief Has Bad Eyes, Too

KANSAS CITY—(AP)—A purse-snatcher left Mrs. Gertrude Wald short-changed but not short-sighted. After he grabbed her purse and started to run, she called out that her new glasses were in the handbag.

The man laid her glasses carefully on the grass, then fled with the purse.

Town Loyal; Wants Only Union Coal

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Rather than buy coal dug by non-union miners, the schools in the Chauncey-Dover exempted village school district in Athens county have closed, Supt. W. G. Davis advised the state department of education today.

He wrote that the Solid Fuels Administration seized a carload of coal shipped to the schools from a Chauncey mine, then advised the schools to buy coal from non-union mines.

"Our community," Davis' letter said, "is a miners' community, and nearly all are members of the UMW, and it would be very unwise to attempt to use non-union mined coal."

The schools closed yesterday after their supply of coal was exhausted.

Fifth in Ohio.

Tens of thousands of residents of Mansfield and vicinity are expected to visit the new retail establishment during the day.

Scores of workmen, for weeks, have been on a "round the clock" schedule as officials of the M. O'Neil company sought to make certain that its fifth Ohio branch store would be opened in time for the late Christmas trade.

M. O'Neil company also operates department stores in Akron, Coshocton, Cuyahoga Falls and Massillon.

He was graduated from the Mansfield high school and University of Chicago. During his residence here, Mr. Isaly was active in Mansfield civic and community affairs.

Strike Threatens City Supply of Yule Trees

By PHILIP GREENE

Christmas trees, thousands of them, began to appear in parking lots and at store sites in Mansfield today, but other thousands of them may never arrive because of the rail freight embargo.

Dealers reported today that the city may be shy 10,000 or more evergreens unless the embargo against railshipment of "unessential" freight is lifted before the holiday.

Most of the city's usual supply of trees comes from Pennsylvania, New England and Canada.

While chances are that the supply of the traditional shrubs will not improve, current prices still are not much above those of last year.

A survey of the stores and nurseries offering trees for sale reveals a price range from 59 cents to $8 or $9 per tree, depending upon size and shape.

* * *

AS IN PREVIOUS YEARS, the Christmas shopper can buy either live trees, with earth "bulbs" wrapped neatly around the roots, or the cut variety which are intended for use only during the holiday season and then are burned for firewood or cast away.

Montgomery Ward and company yesterday received a shipment of 4,000 trees, all balsam, from Maine, just under the embargo wire, C. S. Bevier, manager of the hardware and farm department, reported.

"We have (or had) another carload on the way but I imagine the ban will stop them," he said.

The trees his company are marketing will be offered for sale on the vacant lot at the rear of the store on North Walnut street. They range from three to 12 feet in height.

Following his annual custom, John Hattery, jr., will have about 3,000 trees for sale during the holidays. Some of the trees will be brought from Michigan and others from his farm, near Adario. They will include long needle pine, balsam, red and Scotch pine and Norway spruce. Hattery will have them on display on Park avenue east and at the Ralph Stanton home, 141 Marion avenue.

Another big seller of Yule trees this year is the Wade and Gatton nursery of Bellville. The nursery's sites in Mansfield are in the Diemer parking lot on Park avenue west and in the parking lot at Fourth and Mulberry streets.

C. A. Wade, manager, expects a shortage of trees for Mansfield this year.

* * *

"OUR OWN COMPANY WILL supply locally-grown trees for the 1,000 we've ordered from Nova Scotia and Vermont if they don't get through. But most of Mansfield's trees are imported and I've been told we'll be short about 10,000 trees," he said.

Wade and Gatton's prices range from $1 to $8 or $9. Trees being offered include red, Scotch, white, Austrian and jack pines, some balsam and some Norway spruce. The live trees are red pine and Norway spruce.

Wade said his firm's prices are approximately the same as they were last year.

HOME OUTSIDE CITY LEVELED, LITTLE SAVED

Firemen, Unable to Fight Fire, Help Remove Furniture.

Fate has been working overtime to give the Clarence Dotsons, of Lexington, R. D. 1, a cheerless Christmas.

Fire destroyed the family's Hanley road home last night. Three weeks ago the barn at the Dotson farm was wiped out by flames.

Mrs. Dotson is in General hospital where she gave birth to a daughter two days ago.

Mansfield firemen who voluntarily went to the site of the Washington township home last night to help fight the blaze said the home was beyond saving before they arrived.

Laws prevent Mansfield fire equipment from being sent outside Madison township. Firemen who went to the home, however, said the apparatus would have been useless, anyway. The flames were discovered at 7:30 p. m.

Local firemen saved some of the furniture before flames got to it. "Shot gun shells, ignited by the flames, were popping all around," said one fireman.

Firemen said origin of the blaze is unknown. It spread quickly through the sixroom, log-based home and was well under way before it was discovered by neighbors.

Dotson, employed at the Mansfield Tire and Rubber company, was at work when the fire broke out. The Dotsons' two other children were away, too.

Firemen quoted Dotson as saying, as he surveyed the smoldering logs: "These clothes I have on my back—and the furniture that was saved—that's all I own, now."

TRUSTIES OUT AT SANDUSKY

The state welfare department today announced that trusties from the Mansfield reformatory, who have worked for a number of years at the Sandusky Soldiers and sailors' home, would be removed after Jan. 1.

The announcement came after reports from Sandusky disclosed an unnamed veterans' organization had circulated petitions asking the Mansfield men's removal, according to the Associated Press.

Welfare Director Frazier Reams, however, instructed Arthur L. Glattke, superintendent at Mansfield, to keep 90 men at the Sandusky home until outside help could be obtained. The letter said Reams had been assured by J. Ernest Giffin of Bellaire, president of the Sandusky board of trustees, that sufficient money to hire outside help would be budgeted for 1947.

Reams long has opposed having Mansfield inmates serve the home at Sandusky, but the institution has contended that it had no money to hire outside help.

Anti-Embarrassment Christmas Plan For Aiding Mansfield Needy Outlined

A plan to assure more Mansfield families of a good Christmas dinner and to prevent embarrassment for those receiving Christmas baskets was announced today by Mrs. Jane Williams, executive secretary of the Mansfield Community Fund.

The social service office will continue to act as a clearing house for organizations, clubs, churches and individuals who want to give baskets, Mrs. Williams said, but the names of families who will receive the baskets will be withheld.

"By clearing the baskets through this office, more families will be remembered and distribution made wider," Mrs. Williams added.

* * *

LISTS OF NEEDY FAMILIES have already been turned in to the office from the Volunteers of America and the Salvation Army. The Community Fund has been serving as a clearing house for Christmas baskets for more than 10 years

"This year we are not giving out the names of families or persons who will receive the baskets because of the embarrassment such practice has caused in the past," she added. "Children and families have a better chance to build back when such things do not occur."

The plan for withholding the names of basket recipients has been adopted by Community Chest offices throughout the country.

* * *

EXAMPLES OF THE STIGMA of charity left on persons were illustrated by Mrs. Williams:

Several years ago, a young boy entered a school in a better neighborhood, after the finances of his family had improved. The family had had a difficult time during the serious illness of the father. The boy was greeted in the new school by a youngster who said:

"Oh, I know you. You're the 'charity kid'—the one we took a basket to last Christmas."

It was necessary to secure a transfer to a different school before this boy could become adjusted.

* * *

IN ANOTHER CASE, a Sunday school teacher took her class with her to deliver a basket to a needy family. Then she said, in the presence of the family, "Children, how would you like to live like this?"

These are among the instances which have caused social workers to discontinue the giving out of names of families needing help, Mrs. Williams said.

New Curb Hits Travel On Eve Of Yule Rush

Pennsy to Take Off New York to Chicago Fliers Sunday Night As Dwindling Coal Supplies Force Drastic Curtailment.

Mansfield travellers today received a hard blow to holiday plans as two of the leading railroads serving the city announced cancellation of 15 passenger trains through here, effective at midnight Sunday.

With the strangling coal strike in its 15th day, the Pennsylvania railroad agent here, H. R. Williams, said 13 trains passing through Mansfield will be withdrawn. The Erie railroad announced cancellation of two trains between Chicago and Jersey City, N. J.

Only railroad here which will not cut passenger service in connection with the Office of Defense Transportation order is the Baltimore and Ohio railroad.

The B and O, which has only two passenger trains daily serving Mansfield, said service here would not be affected by the ODT order. The cut will be made on other sections of the road, an official said.

Crack Trains Stopped.

Many of Pennsylvania's crack trains passing through Mansfield will be cancelled under the order issued today. The list of cancelled trains affecting Mansfield, and time of arrival here, follows:

OFFICIALS PLAN TRAFFIC STUDY

A "cross section of opinion" on the problems of highway traffic in and about Mansfield, including the feasibility of relocating some of the major arteries leading into the city, is being sought by the Richland County Auto club.

Jack Berger, secretary of the club, announced today that a meeting of city and state highway department officials, Auto club and Chamber of Commerce representatives, and all other interested persons is to be called to consider the traffic problem later in December.

"The traffic and parking headaches now with us are bound to become worse as time goes on unless action is taken. The Auto club has always been interested in them and feels that a forum of all interested persons will aid in their solution," Berger said.

Berger said he hoped officials of division three, state department of highways, city traffic officials and other interested persons will attend the meeting.

The club's proposal is in line with a program recently adopted by local automobile associations as the result of action taken by the American Automobile association at San Francisco. A plank in the AAA's program calls for the "establishment in all communities, large and small, of an agency armed with authority and resources to solve the parking problem."

SHILOH MAN KILLS DEER, FINED $150

Shooting a deer in northern Richland county cost Garner B. Smith, Shiloh R. D. 1, a $150 fine and $6.50 court costs yesterday in Justice of Peace Jud Egner's court at Shiloh.

Smith was arrested by Game Warden C. I. Kimmel of Richland county and Joseph Walker of Huron county on a charge of shooting a deer in Butler township.

A few deer have drifted into the county from Pennsylvania, but Kimmel emphasized that there's no open season on them. Smith is the second Richland countian to be fined $150 this fall for killing deer.

ENDRISS NAMED TO HEAD DRIVE

Campaign For Friendly House to Open Dec. 16.

The public drive for $60,000 which will aid in financing a new $235,000 Friendly House building will be conduted between Dec. 16 and Jan. 15, under the direction of Paul W. Endriss, campaign chairman, Russell Gimbel, director of the settlement, announced today.

The Friendly House board of directors met today to work out details of the campaign, including the appointment of the campaign committee and its division chairmen and the selection of a slogan.

Headquarters for the campaign will be in the R. E. Moorhead auto showrooms, 37 Park avenue west. Publicity manager will be Coleman Todd, Gimbel said.

Endorse Campaign.

Lending impetus to the campaign was the "100 per cent endorsement" of the Friendly House program by the Richland County Industrial Union Council (CIO) last night.

W. F. McCartney, president of the council, said that each of the member unions of the council will conduct its own solicitation of funds.

The city's two largest unions, Local 711, United Electrical Local 711, United Electrical Workers (CIO), and Local 17, United Rubber Workers (CIO), pledged their efforts in behalf of the campaign at the plants of the Westinghouse Electric corporation and the Mansfield Tire and Rubber company.

Joseph Hawkins, president of Local 711, said his union would confer with Westinghouse officials on the method of solicitation and Desmond Walker, president of Local 17, said it was "very likely" that the drive at that plant would be handled through the joint labor-management committee.

The campaign for the $60,000, presented as part of "Operation Tomorrow" by the Citizens Committee on Social Survey, has been approved by the Public Appeals Review board

U. S. SENDS COAL TO HELP GALION

GALION — Mayor William Amann today ordered Galion industries to resume operations Monday.

The industries closed down today, throwing more than 3,000 men out of work, after a critical coal shortage at the municipal power plant forced the drastic measure.

Mayor Amann said the government had promised delivery of a carload of coal a day from West Virginia. He said the first carload was expected "within a few days."

AMBASSADORSHIP GOES TO GARDNER

WASHINGTON — (INS) — General approval is being expressed in Washington on the appointment of O. Max Gardner, undersecretary of the treasury, as the new American ambassador to Great Britain.

While Gardner has had little experience in diplomatic ranks, he was viewed as a strong, capable appointee for the post. He has won widespread success as a lawyer, politician and manufacturer.

Gardner, who was born at Selby, N. C., March 22, 1882, served as governor of his home state from 1929 to 1933. During this time he received distinction by building public roads while reducing state taxes and economizing in government.

Nation's Industry Faces Paralysis

PITTSBURGH — (U.P.) — Steel corporations announced new cutbacks today and scores of factories planned to close this week end as a result of the combined effect of the soft coal strike and the freight embargo, effective at midnight.

The number of persons already made idle by the mine strike approached the million mark, including the 400,000 coal diggers, and the number may be doubled next week.

Youngstown Sheet & Tube company reported that it was operating at only 30 per cent of capacity and further cutbacks might be necessary. The firm already has furloughed 8,000 employes.

Republic Steel Corporation will cutback production from 65 to 20 per cent tomorrow. Between 5,000 and 8,000 Republic employes already have been laid off.

Total number of unemployed in the basic steel industry is 60,000 and this may be trebled within a week when finishing mills and fabricators begin curtailing production.

With schedules reduced drastically the railroads were expected to furlough thousands of employes next week. Already 30,000 rail workers have been laid off.

The automobile industry, which employs 500,000 workers, will shut down as soon as existing supplies and storage space is consumed. The same outlook faces most other industries throughout the United States.

AMBASSADORSHIP GOES TO GARDNER

WASHINGTON — (INS) — General approval is being expressed in Washington on the appointment of O. Max Gardner, undersecretary of the treasury, as the new American ambassador to Great Britain.

While Gardner has had little experience in diplomatic ranks, he was viewed as a strong, capable appointee for the post. He has won widespread success as a lawyer, politician and manufacturer.

Gardner, who was born at Selby, N. C., March 22, 1882, served as governor of his home state from 1929 to 1933. During this time he received distinction by building public roads while reducing state taxes and economizing in government.

Nation's Industry Faces Paralysis

PITTSBURGH — (U.P.) — Steel corporations announced new cutbacks today and scores of factories planned to close this week end as a result of the combined effect of the soft coal strike and the freight embargo, effective at midnight.

The number of persons already made idle by the mine strike approached the million mark, including the 400,000 coal diggers, and the number may be doubled next week.

Youngstown Sheet & Tube company reported that it was operating at only 30 per cent of capacity and further cutbacks might be necessary. The firm already has furloughed 8,000 employes.

Republic Steel Corporation will cutback production from 65 to 20 per cent tomorrow. Between 5,000 and 8,000 Republic employes already have been laid off.

Total number of unemployed in the basic steel industry is 60,000 and this may be trebled within a week when finishing mills and fabricators begin curtailing production.

With schedules reduced drastically the railroads were expected to furlough thousands of employes next week. Already 30,000 rail workers have been laid off.

The automobile industry, which employs 500,000 workers, will shut down as soon as existing supplies and storage space is consumed. The same outlook faces most other industries throughout the United States.

WYATT OUT AS HOUSING CHIEF

WASHINGTON —(INS)— Wilson W. Wyatt today will write "finis" to his career as U. S. housing chief and to his plans for a broad federal emergency housing program.

Wyatt's resignation was accepted by President Truman, effective at the close of business today.

He refused to be quoted directly on his reasons for resigning, but a close associate put it this way:

"Wyatt wanted emergency controls in order to get emergency housing. The president wants business-as-usual housing. Wyatt couldn't compromise, so he quit."

The White House is expected to name either an acting or a permanent successor to Wyatt today.

Two possibilities being mentioned among housing officials are Raymond M. Foley, commissioner of the Federal Housing administration, a constituent of NHA, and William K. Divers, a special assistant to Wyatt.

There are also reports that some lame duck democratic members of congress have been asked to consider the job.

A presidential statement on the housing situation accompanied the announcement of Wyatt's resignation. In it, Mr. Truman said that the housing program "must be given its proper emphasis in the overall economy and controls must be relaxed as rapidly as possible without threatening the success of the housing program.

Lewis Demands Unconditional Surrender

EXCEPT for the absence of armed forces meeting on the battlefield, the present situation in the United States bears strong resemblance to actual warfare, with a state of siege existing and a strongly generaled army of 400,000 men demanding unconditional surrender by government.

Never before have the potentialities of rebellion against orderly government been so great as now, and it remains to be determined whether this nation shall continue under the principles and policies of democracy, with majority rule, or be subjected to a labor dictatorship under such ruthless methods of enforcing demands as are now being practiced by John L. Lewis and like-thinking despots.

The attitude of Lewis when he was in court yesterday to hear the sentence of a fine imposed upon himself and his United Mine Workers, provided a pattern of contempt for the processes of orderly government which dare not be disregarded if this nation is to prosper—or even to survive.

Money involved in the fines—huge as the sums may appear—is inconsequential in its relationship to the catastrophic consequences of the rebellious action of Lewis and his followers.

Already the effects of the mine strike are being seriously felt by industry, transportation, business, and homes, with assurance that increasing paralysis will carry through until the entire nation is at a standstill—if Lewis has his way.

Court procedure is necessarily slow—even if the appeal to the Supreme Court is expedited with all possible speed . . . as it should be. Meanwhile, however, the penalty for lack of foresight is being suffered by millions of people who have become innocent victims of forces which they once encouraged—without realization of the danger of permitting development of a power that would finally place itself above constituted government.

Unless there is present determination to undergo sufficient inconvenience and suffering to meet the issue squarely and to carry the fight to a finish, there is no appearance of an alternative to surrender to John L. Lewis. This is, as Judge Goldsborough said yesterday, "an evil, a monstrous thing—a threat to democratic government itself."

Miners' Wages Have Increased Fast

ONE POINT that has been left rather hazy in the minds of many people, in connection with the coal strike, has to do with present wages of miners, as compared with other industrial workers.

It cannot be denied that in the earlier days of coal mining, the men engaged in this work—many of them newly arrived immigrants—were an exploited lot, working long and hard at starvation wages and living under miserable conditions, to the enrichment of greedy mine owners who paid no heed to the welfare of their employes and whose "company stores" took practically all of the miners' earnings in exchange for actual necessities of life.

Now, however, figures issued by the National Coal association show miners to be among the highest paid industrial workers in the United States—with a standard work week of 35 hours and one and a half times the hourly rate paid for overtime.

In August, for instance, average weekly earnings of bituminous coal miners were $62.37, or 161.18 per cent higher than in 1939, while rise in the cost of living during that period was 44.6 per cent, according to the bureau of labor statistics.

Just how much a coal miner should be paid for that kind of work cannot be fairly decided by outsiders, but wages are so closely related to costs to consumers that it becomes quite obvious that some limit must be fixed, else the price of the product would become prohibitive.

Regardless of substitute fuels that may be in prospect for future generations, it is a cold, hard fact that present dependence is so largely on soft coal that any long interruption in production will prove disastrous.

Old Toys Can Be Made Useful

COLLECTION of old toys, which is going on this week in the children's room at the public library, deserves the co-operation of Mansfielders who have any discarded toys stored away in closets or attic. Toys thus collected are to be turned over to the Volunteers of America for repair, brightening-up and later distribution to children who might otherwise be without toys for Christmas.

Many will remember that years ago it was members of the city fire departments who volunteered to recondition old toys in advance of Christmas and this leisure-time work served well for several seasons, after which it was dropped.

This year the supply of toys will be larger than during the war, but Santa Claus is also feeling the effects of higher costs and may not be able to fill his sack as full as he would like.

Toy train manufacturers, for instance, report an ample variety and supply, but in higher price brackets, as are also wagons and bicycles. More wooden toys will also be on the market this year, but soaring labor and lumber costs are naturally reflected in prices. Dolls are fortunately available in great variety and at a wide range of prices.

Noticeably absent from this year's toy stocks are such war-like items as machine guns, tanks, and the like, it appearing that Santa is also back on a peace-time basis.

Meanwhile, however, why not rummage around and see what old toys you can find, so that these can be put to good use instead of continuing to clutter up the house?

So Many Things To Be Learned

SOMETHING happens every once in awhile to emphasize the importance of paying attention to little things which seem simple to those who know how, but which may be complicated for those who haven't taken the trouble to learn just how to go about it.

The example in mind is that of a man who quite innocently gave checks against a savings account, not realizing the difference between that deposit and a checking account. The error is quite understandable, in the absence of information on that subject—but such information should be available to every school child above the age of ten.

The incident is remindful of the story of the woman who protested by the bank that her account had been overdrawn. "Why, it can't be," she contended, "I still have a few checks left."

Suspect Evasion of Income Tax In Lewis' Payment To Elshoff

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Two weeks ago this column told how John L. Lewis had paid out around $300,000 of miners' dues to a Springfield, Ill., mine owner, Carl Elshoff, to keep his mine closed.

It is now possible to reveal that since publication of that column, the treasury department has taken the John L. Lewis-United Mine Workers income tax return out of the files and is studying it with a view to possible prosecution.

Back in 1943, the treasury had probed this payment to mine-owner Carl Elshoff, but despite the urging of Secretary Morgenthau, experts finally decided not to prosecute.

The facts in the case are that Elshoff closed his coal mines on May 12, 1937, and remained closed for nearly two years, during which he received around $300,000 from Lewis, who at that time was trying to throw out of work a rival union employed by Elshoff which had won an election under the Wagner Act. Since he couldn't win out under the Wagner Act, Lewis closed the mine.

Later he reported the expenditure of the $300,000 in his tax return, but Elshoff failed to report the $300,000 as income.

Thus the treasury appeared at first to have a case against Elshoff and not against Lewis. However, when Lewis discovered that the treasury was probing the matter, a series of notes were sent by Elshoff to Lewis to make the transaction appear as a loan. However, the treasury claimed it had evidence that the notes were pre-dated and that this loan was pure afterthought to cover up the fact that Elshoff had failed to pay taxes on the money.

It was—and still is—the contention of treasury experts that Lewis was guilty of conspiracy in helping Elshoff avoid income taxes. This was the ground on which the treasury in 1943 wanted to prosecute. It finally decided not to on the grounds that it would be interpreted by a jury as labor persecution.

Now that the treasury has dusted off the case and looked into it again, the decision may be different—if the statute of limitations has not run

Note—Some very big tax scandals will leak out of the treasury-justice departments soon. Certain big war contractors who knew the right people got off scot free. It will be the worst scandal yet of the Truman administration.

Steel Troubles.

CIO President Philip Murray is worried about the coal strike for many reasons.

For one thing, tens of thousands of steel workers are being laid off. More important, the coal strike is threatening to wipe out the 15 billion dollars in profits big business built up during 1946.

Murray was hoping to base new wage claims on these profits so as not to cause new price increases. If the strike continues until after January 1, the CIO may have to remap its whole wage-increase drive.

Showdown Over Ambassador.

It isn't being whispered outside the state department, but Assistant Secretary of State Spruille Braden is laying it right on the line before Secretary Byrnes that George Messersmith, U. S. ambassador to Argentina, must be fired.

The roly-poly Braden has long contended that Messersmith was too friendly to Argentine President Peron and disloyal to the state department's anti-dictator policy.

Now, however, Braden has secured about fifty secret letters written by Messersmith to American newspapermen and state department officials denouncing Braden personally together with state department policy toward Argentina.

Braden, who looks soft but is tough, will use these letters in a final showdown with Jimmy Byrnes. If Byrnes doesn't act in regard to Messersmith, Braden will resign. This, of course, would be a stupendous victory for Dictator Peron, who made it quite clear in his letter to Andrew Jackson Higgins, the New Orleans boat builder, that he was conspiring to get Braden removed.

Andy Higgins' Taxes.

People who know the real inside regarding Andy Higgins are wondering how come he is commissioned to trot around South America as a sort of unofficial ambassador.

Eyebrows are especially arched among those who know how Andy Higgins got behind in paying about a million dollars in income taxes during the 1944 election campaign.

At that time Higgins was chairman of the Businessmen for Roosevelt committee, and was slated to make an important speech in Philadelphia introducing FDR to a big campaign crowd. Night before the speech, however, Higgins got word that Henry Morgenthau's tax collectors had been going through his New Orleans plant and found him behind in taxes to the tune of around $1,000,000. Furthermore, the tax collectors were getting quite ugly about payment.

At this point Uncle Andy nearly burst. Calling in Roosevelt friends, he told them that next day, instead of introducing Roosevelt, he would come out publicly for Dewey.

Finally Henry Morgenthau was persuaded to call off his treasury dogs for the time being, and Higgins made his Philadelphia speech.

Later he retained the law firm of Hugh Fulton, former counsel to the Truman committee, to help handle his tax matters. It is understood the taxes are being paid up on the installment plan.

Note—Hugh Fulton, once one of the closest men to Harry Truman, accompanied Higgins on his unofficial ambassadorial tour of Argentina.

Listen World!

Elsie Tells Why She Writes For You

By ELSIE ROBINSON

HE WANTS to know why I write this column. I have wondered myself at times, Bud. But as long as the editor doesn't join in my query, we'll let the matter slide.

Now to get back to your questions. Where do I get the stuff? And who am I to be "telling the world to listen?"

I get my stuff from life itself, son.

I get it from every grave and every new born babe.

As a writer I'm probably one of the world's washouts. But God gave me one gift and only one when He sent me into this world—He gave me the power to feel.

I have never been very happy nor very secure nor very safe. But neither have I felt that these things mattered greatly.

I have always felt that the power to feel was the greatest gift in life.

I can't write very well. I wish I could. But I can feel loneliness.

I can feel fear.

I can feel despair.

I can know what it means to walk the streets when the night comes down without home or house and a dying boy on my hands.

Two great things have I learned from life. One is to endure life. And one is to endure death. And if you can live long enough you will find that life swings between those two great poles.

For we all are lonely and afraid and broken hearted.

Yet there is something in us that goes on—something gallant and resilient and indomitable.

These are strange things to write in a newspaper but they are true things. For if you have learned how to endure life you have learned how to face death. And that's the whole job which we all must tackle.

Why do I write this column? I write it for people. I write it because everywhere there is suffering and fear, remorse and heartbreak. I write it because we are all bound in the same cause and because we all need the same comfort and because I know no other way to bring it to them.

It is true that certain issues often bring me to a flaring rage. Injustice in any form infuriates me. I am a bad tempered woman and perhaps sometimes I go too far in my rages. But there are times, frequent times, when I would like to kick the whole world on its axis.

We are passing through such times now and I feel neither patience nor pity toward the stupid and cruel fools who are moving our destiny.

But toward each lonely man, each frightened woman, I feel a gentleness. I wish I might go to the man and say, "You are not alone. You are not dwelling on a cruel little island all by yourself. I am your friend and I love you and I believe in you. Hold that close to you and warm your heart with it—I do believe in you. And somehow we'll all win through if we can believe in each other."

Why do I write this column?

That's why.

Assignment: America

—By KENNETH L. DIXON

Unions See Danger In Autocratic Power.

WASHINGTON—When the fuel furor and firing finally die away, John L. Lewis may well discover that the most drastic eventual development of the soft coal crisis has come from the ranks of the men who stand solidly behind him on this shutdown.

Throughout the coal country there is a growing indication that an internal move to revise the governing structure of many labor unions may not be far away.

It has grown out of a renewed realization of one of the oldest political problems in the history of mankind—a problem tersely restated by a minor union official in a small Pennsylvania coal town: "Once you've given a man almost autocratic power, it's hard to get it back . . ."

It is no secret that John L. Lewis carries such power today within the structure of his Mine Workers Union. Nor is it an unusual situation. There are others as notorious in the year-round news—James Caesar Petrillo, for example. Still other top union leaders have been given such powers, but have been less emphatic and less colorful about exercising them.

Much of this grows out of the convention-delegate type of structural government within the framework of the union or unions, for that method of choosing leadership has always pointed the way toward government from the top, rather than from the bottom.

Anyone who has ever attended a major political convention knows how simple it normally is for a handful of powerful individuals in key positions to control the actions of that convention.

Thus it is with unions. In most instances—except for a few locals—all delegates, officers and the like are selected by convention, making it possible for men recommended by higher officials to be railroaded rapidly into unanimous position. That these minor representatives then will perpetuate the men above them in position goes without saying.

Often, in the past, that sort of government and union policy control was quite frankly preferred (the power was then being given) since many a coal miner, new to this country, could neither read nor white English yet and preferred to place almost blind trust in someone he felt more capable of representing his interests.

Today, that situation is largely dissolving, no matter where you wander in the coal patches. The foreign-born population now has become far outnumbered by its second generation, which not only is completely literate in the English language but also is well-read and well-informed on current events.

Thus, the day of blind faith is fading—and there is no better example than the questions currently being posed by the idle younger miners today:

"What's it all about? Nobody's told me what we're trying to get, even . . ."

"Why didn't we have something to say about when we were going to walk out? This was a bad time. We should have waited until after Christmas, at least . . ."

"Whose idea was this, anyway? Nobody asked me . . ."

Many of those questions obviously come from the kitchens of their homes, because the miners often find themselves unable to answer the embarrassing queries of their wives and children.

In vain, one union official attempted to answer such a barrage one afternoon, saying "Lewis is only doing what we told him . . . we instructed him at the last convention to get a new contract . . . naturally he's not going to state his demands until this question of existence of a contract is settled . . ." And so on. But it didn't stem the tide.

Finally, he silenced them by asking flatly, "well, whether you like this deal or not, Lewis is still the man—and where will you be if you don't stick behind him now?"

The others nodded agreement. On that point they were unanimous. If they didn't stick together now, they'd have no union. But still they were disgruntled, there and many other places.

They Are Worth Saving.

For generations the alcoholic was exhorted over, as one fallen from grace. Only in our time has he come to be regarded as the victim of a disorder, to be treated as are others who are ill.

The medical world is looking into his chemistry. Many and remarkable cures are effected by Alcoholics Anonymous through the twin approaches of fellowship and setting the patient to redeem others. At Yale the problem of alcoholism is explored in all its parts, as a continuing study, along with the efficacy of various therapies.

In this day when the cares and tensions of life tend to overwhelm, alcohol has been the refuge of hundreds of thousands, with the proportion of women among them growing higher year by year.

Particularly susceptible to the disease are some of our finest intelligences and most useful citizens. Their salvage is as valuable a contribution to society as any going forward in our time.—Detroit News.

Heavy Responsibility on Incoming Congress.

WASHINGTON— Day-by-day developments add to the load of responsibility the republicans will assume when the new congress convenes next month under their management.

Party leaders are waking up to what a job they have inherited after being out of power and out of practice so long.

Two tendencies have contributed. One is the intensifying of immediate problem. The other is the stalling around of the Truman administration since the election. Obviously interpreting the election as a swing toward conservatism, the administration has retreated rapidly toward that position. It seems ready to let nature take its course, instead of trying to move forward in the interim between the election and the meeting of congress.

Some of the younger, more alert and progressive Republicans would seize the opportunity, take the offensive, and try to bring new and fresh solution to the problems that are piling up.

They would act on the theory that the country did not ask for conservatism, but for efficient and prompt handling of problems which the people did not find in the Truman administration.

These same problems and the responsibility they demand from the Republican party have sobered the more standpat elements who had hoped to rock along easily until 1948, or as one member said "open each session with a prayer and close with an investigation," to which others add labor regulatory legislation, atop in tax reduction, some government economy and let it go at that.

That ever-ready barometer, the Gallup poll, now comes along with some interesting guidance for Republicans. As was expected, its analysis of what the people were asking of congress in the election shows they want most that something be done about strikes.

But next, and this is important to ponder, they want something done about prices and the cost of living.

That, of course, was one of the paradoxes of the campaign to anybody who saw it all over the country. It was President Truman who made the fight for price controls and Republicans were in the majority of those in congress who wanted to throw them off.

But the people could not understand what happened in congress—it was hard even if you followed it here first hand—and so the president and the Democrats got the blame for the inflation. Mr. Truman cast the final verdict when he lifted price controls on meat just before the election.

But Republicans now have a mandate—or so Mr. Gallup says in his poll—to do something about the high cost of living.

Maybe natural forces will save them. But thus far they have not. Prices as a whole are up 50 per cent over 1939, with food 92.5 per cent higher and clothing and house-furnishings 66 per cent higher. That dips heavy into the weekly pay check. Nor does it help that picture for the CIO's "economic outlook" to be estimating for union members that industrial profits for 1946 will be $11,800,000,000 after taxes, compared with $3,900,000,000 in 1939, while the estimate for 1947 is $16,000,000,000 after taxes.

All the legislation that can be passed probably won't be able to stop more strikes if that sort of situation gets noised about among workers, and it will be noised about. You can count on that.

people on salaries and wages and those of the veterans—are rising into a mighty roar.

Direct Appeal to Coal Miners Urged.

WASHINGTON-While the case of John L. Lewis vs. the United States was being heard in federal district court here President Truman felt that he should not go over the head of the Mine Workers' boss to appeal to the miners themselves.

The White House has been under persistent pressure to take the government's case direct to the men who are sitting out the strike.

No one in authority has come forward to tell them what the stakes are in this contest, with all its tragic meaning for America and the world

The president is being urged to get both Gen. Eisenhower and Secretary of State Byrnes to go on the air in direct appeals to the strikers. They could present most effectively the picture of what the loss in coal means to the United States in relation to western Europe and the German occupation.

The silence the president is enforcing on himself seems to leave the government leaderless in what is certainly the sharpest test of power in many years. Reports from the field say the miners are puzzled and confused. They are not quite sure of the ground they stand on.

They remember back to the time, shortly after VJ-day, when the administration in Washington assured them they were entitled to wage increases. With that went administration approval of a cut of about six billion dollars in taxes, including the excess-profits tax. Now, while their average weekly pay has been fairly high, the miners, along with most workers, are feeling the pinch of spiralling prices.

They lost 59 days' pay in the strike of last spring and their union does not dispense strike benefits. So they are in a cheerless and increasingly sullen frame of mind as they read the violent criticisms of their leader.

While a direct appeal might be that much wasted breath, it's just possible the miners would be receptive to the story of the fearful effects of the loss of millions of tons of coal at this critical moment in history.

The hope of a private settlement between the operators and the union seems, for the time being at least, to have gone glimmering. There are stiff-necked operators who look to the incoming congress to solve their union problems. They see no reason to deal with Lewis at this point.

They remember back to the good old days before 1933 when Lewis' union was so torn by inner dissension that its effectiveness was almost nil.

That, of course, was when coal was a very sick industry. The depression hit the mines harder than almost any other segment of the American economy.

Some trade-unionists in this country are beginning to talk about nationalization as the only solution for our coal industry.

That would certainly not please Lewis, who regards himself as a defender of private enterprise.

By the ruthlessness of his tactics, he may make inevitable the very thing he professes to dread.

Farmer's Diary: "The Big Poplar."

A FINE yellow poplar tree stands at the northeast corner of our woods. The trunk is straight and tall with the first branch perhaps 20 feet from the ground, scaffolding branches, with a straight long terminal lead at the top. More than 50 feet tall, it still seems young and thirty, with dark furrowed bark that almost betrays the tissues of the softer inner layer. For seven pleasant years, I have admired this tree whenever I pass by

I pointed it out to the oldest boy one day when he four and I were walking. "What does it remind you of?" I asked him.

"It's straight and awful strong," he said. "A big wind wouldn't faze it! It's got balance."

"Its top stretches high and its roots go deep—it looks up to the sky and uses the sunlight and air as well as the deep earth to make its life long and perfect. It is much alive. It is like a Moses or a Lincoln, like a man with his feet on the ground, and his mind upon high things. . . .

"No matter in what part of the hills I would be wandering, the outline of its branches in winter, the glorious green of the leaves in the summer, the gorgeous yellow of autumn, all would be like a compass to guide me. To all who come beneath it, there is shelter from storm and shade from the sun's heat . . . there are folks like that!"

"The fire that went through here five years ago didn't hurt it, I guess," he observed.

"No, the wind was fortunately in its favor. Even though the whole woods floor was a mass of ashes six years ago, you notice that now there is a new growth of young poplars—some of them 12 feet high. That parent poplar tree has sent its seeds for a half mile around. The wind, the fussy bluejays, the squirrels and the other wild folk have planted a new forest."

"I guess a person oughta leave a few big seed trees where the winds would strike them right," suggested the boy, thoughtfully. "It'd be the easiest way to do reforesting, wouldn't it?"

War Department Offers New Land to 'Flooded' Indians

WASHINGTON—(INS)—The war and interior departments offered new lands today to three Indian tribes in North Dakota whose territory will be flooded by the building of Garrison dam and reservoir.

The offer to transfer substitute lands as compensation for Indian lands which will be flooded was referred to the three affiliated tribes of the Fort Berthold reservation in North Dakota through William A. Brophy, Indian affairs commisioner.

The substitute lands, comprising about 145,000 acres in Oliver and Mercer counties, N. D., lie along the west bank of the Missouri river several miles below the site of Garrison dam.

These lands were selected by the war department after extensive field studies by the corps of engineers.

After the Indians have had an opportunity to study the war department offer their representatives will come to Washington, probably on Dec. 16, for hearings before the secretary of the interior.

Congress has directed the selection, offer and approval of the substitute lands be consummated before Jan. 1, 1947.

The offer of the lands is in accordance with the act of May 2, 1946, appropriating money for the construction of Garrison dam.

It provided that the funds would not be used for actual construction of the dam until lands "comparable in quality and sufficient in area" had been offered as compensation for the lands to be flooded.

Nomad Club Hears Guest Speaker On American Theater at Weldon Home

Continuing the program on America's Heritage, members of the Nomad club heard Mrs. W. J. Young of Norwalk speaker "America In Greasepaint," yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. William McK. Weldon was hostess at her home on Blymyer avenue.

The speaker, introduced by Mrs. William Layton, discussed the development of the American theater, stating that the two most original contributions to this country's theater were made by the "Uncle Tom-ers" and the barnstorming groups. Noting that the period between the Civil war and World War I was the hey-dey of the American theater, she included in her talk information on the development of the technical side of production.

December 18 there will be a sealed program at the home of Mrs. Harry Cave, Blymyer avenue.

Gossip in Gotham—Franchot Tone and his pretty blond wife, Jean Wallace, are about to confirm the long-rumored breakup, according to regretful friends . . . Nancy DeMarigny, now in Gotham, leaves next week for Nassau to help settle the estate of her late father, Sir Harry Oakes. (She gets $30,000,000 of it when she's 30.) After a few days in the Bahamas she'll return to Mexico City to join her sweetheart . . . Cartoonist Rube Goldberg is recovering from a serious abdominal operation at Doctors Hospital . . . Virginia Weidler, who not long ago was flashing across movie screens in pigtails, may make the gazettes shortly with her marriage to a producer—a gent at least 15 years older than she—who is trying to effect a quiet divorce . . . President Truman is preparing two key appointments for women, in a step to gain feminine support for the Democrat party.

Boston socialites are still buzzing about the incident at a recent cocktail party, when Lucy Cochrane "told off" Barbara Hutton's ex-groom, Count Haugwitz von Reventlow. She decided he was smug and said so in no uncertain terms . . . "Amber" or no, Linda Darnell's physicians have ordered her to gain back at least seven of the 20 pounds that she dropped, seriously endangering her health. So, if by the end of the film she begins to look a little plumper to you, you're right—it isn't the photography . . . G'wan home, fans: the "Joan of Lorraine" management and Ingrid Bergman have an elaborate schedule arranged for smuggling her in and out of the theater at odd hours. She spends a great deal of time relaxing and avoiding frenzied admirers in her Hollywood-like dressing room there, and you'll never catch her by hanging roun' that ol' stage door.

Film Actress Diana Lynn and her favorite beau, Henry Wilson, are in that elopement mood again . . . That Walt Kuhn painting in the window of Durand-Buel art galleries is a portrait of singer Harold Bayne. One of Edward G. Robinson's representatives here reportedly offered $6,000 for it . . . "Kilroy Was Here" will be a headache for the three movie studios planning films with that title. It will probably end in a heated court battle . . . Milton Berle and Henry Morgan almost carried their quipping match to blows at a Waldorf ball Monday evening. Berle, natch, won by a verbal knockout in the first round and went off to applause (Moral to anyone: Never ad lib with a Berle if his first name is Milton) . . . HOROSCOPE

For Friday, December 6.

GENERALLY adverse and disruptive conditions are noted from this day's lunar transits, this affecting not only already well-developed propositions or projects, but also finance, business, and personal, domestic, or social relations. There is a threat of a crack-up or disturbance all along the line, due possibly to some tempestuous or emotional impulse, in which the mentality and feelings seem to get out of bounds. This reacts on all contacts and affiliations unless rigidly controlled.

Those whose birthday it is are at the verge of a year that may be critical unless there be firm decision to act in all circumstances and situations under rigid control of conduct, energies, emotions and "temperament." Should these get out of bounds, inciting to rash, turbulent and irresponsible acts and impulses, involving business, finance, new and organized projects, expect unhappy reactions on the domestic, social and sentimental relations. Regrets, loss, and sorrow, exact penalty.

A child born on this day should have early discipline and direction lest its impetuous and willful nature prove its self undoing.

It is better to address one wife, and separate cards to individual members of the family. It is, however, proper to send only one card to a household, provided each member of the household is honored with their names on the envelope.

COUNCIL AGREES TO RAISE FUND FOR REV. ROOP

Plans Laid to Rebuild Church Destroyed By Fire.

GALION — The Sunday School council and official board of the First Evangelical United Brethren church agreed last night to build a new church at the earliest possible date and to collect a fund from the congregation for the pastor, Rev. C. V. Roop, and his family.

The church and parsonage were destroyed in an $85,000 fire Sunday night in which all the personal belongings of the Roop family were lost.

The council and board, which met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Post, asked members of the congregation to contribute to a $1,500 fund for the personal benefit of Rev. Roop and his family. Rev. Roop carried no insurance on the household goods, and the loss was placed at $3,500.

It also was decided that the board of trustees will have a meeting place for this Sunday, with services to start at 9:30 o'clock. The place probably will be decided upon some time today. After this Sunday it is planned to have a permanent meeting place until a new church is erected.

No Decision on Site.

The official board voted unanimously to build a new edifice at the earliest possible date. Whether or not the present site will be selected was not decided.

All organizations of the Sunday school and church will function regularly and carry on all activities as when the church was standing, the group decided. Post, who is superintendent of the Sunday School, presided at the meeting.

Imports of drugs, herbs, leaves, and roots used mainly in medicine were valued at $33,000,000 in 1945.

Iberia Group Plans Benefit

IBERIA—The Iberia chapter of the FFA will sponsor a motion picture entitled "Wide Open Faces" at the Iberia school auditorium next Tuesday at 8 p. m.

A committee comprised of John See, Lyle Mann, and Bill Thompson is planning the evening's entertainment to raise funds for the annual Parent-Son banquet next spring.

Officers of the chapter received a shipment of coveralls for junior and senior members this week. The suits are trimmed with the FFA colors.

GOLDEN LINK GROUP

GALION — Golden Link council, Daughters of America, was host yesterday at a joint meeting with Leesville and Crestline councils.

Mother, 19, Held for Attempt To Pedde 2-Week-Old Baby

GALION — A Galion couple planned to go to Bucyrus today in an effort to secure adoption papers for a two-weeks-old baby boy whose 19-year-old mother is being held in the Crawford county jail for investigation.

The young mother, who came to Galion from Kentucky Nov. 19, gave birth to the baby in Galion on Nov. 23, and was attended by a Galion physician.

She attempted earlier this week to advertise her baby for adoption in a Galion newspaper, but later wrote several persons that her child was available for adoption. Police traced her through the letters, and called in E. T. Talbott of Crestline, Crawford county probation officer who is investigating the case.

The young woman was arrested Tuesday evening at a Harding Way East address after a number of persons had reported to police they had received letters from her. The letters were delivered by the young woman's 16-year-old sister.

Husband Killed

Police were told by the baby's mother that she had come to Galion after her husband had been killed by her father in a shotgun fight, and that she had two other children, 3 years and 6 months respectively. Her story is being investigated.

Not until yesterday were police able to find out who took the baby, because the young mother said she did not take the couple's address who called for the baby.

ADOPTION DECREE GRANTED

MILLERSBURG—A final decree of adoption was granted yesterday in probate court to William P. and Sylvia Critchfield for a child known as Baby Butts.

Council also received a report on city hospital, which so far this year has done a $91,000 business compared with $83,000 during the entire 1945 year.

Library to Provide Variety Of Good Reading for Holidays

There's a wide variety of holiday reading in store for Mansfield Public library patrons in the new books due to go into circulation next Monday.

One of the favorite fiction works probably will be THE RIVER, by Rumer Godden, the sensitive story of a young girl.

The river of the title flowed through the litle town of Amorra in Bengal. On its banks stood a gracious roomy house, home of a family and children. In one brief season through an Indian winter to the breaking of spring, Harriett changes from a child to a young girl who has known death, birth, cruelty and kindness. She has helped and been helped by a sensitive war veteran, and has had her first work published.

THROUGH PURPLE GLASS, by Letitia P. Osbourne, is a comedy of manners. The characters are a group of people widely different in background and type, who live in an apartment house overlooking Boston Common. Under Mrs. Osbourne's gay touch, the purple windows of beacon hill become transparent and permit the reader to watch the life behind them.

I NAME THE MARA, by Edmund Gilligan, is a new sea story. The scene is Gloucester, the Gorand Banks, Newfoundland, and the whole northwest Atlantic. The time is between the two World wars and the story tells of Captain Delebanty's search for his brother. The search filled with exciting incidents plus a startling outcome makes one of the best sea stories yet written by this popular author.

Other fiction includes:

UNEASY SPRING, Molloy; HAWTHORNE'S SHORT STORIES; BAD NEIGHBOR MURDER, Russell; LET'S KILL GEORGE, Cores; ANDY CLAYBOURNE, Lavender.

* * *

NON-FICTION

FIREBRAND, by Henri Troyat, is a biography of Dostoevsky packed with all the inner conflicts that back his immortal characters. This study brings the great Russian before his readers as his contemporaries saw him. His life story is as absorbing as it is appealing; his genius is revealed through descriptions and analyses of his novels.

FROM THE TOP OF THE STAIRS, is by Gretchen Finletter, the second of Walter Damrosch's four daughters. It is a delightful picture of her childhood, surrounded by her famous parents and their guests. In the Damrosch house, three pianos were usually going at once and a casual luncheon guest might turn out to be Paderewski or Melba. She also recreates the life of a busy, happy girl in New York from 1900-1915.

* * *

DAWN OVER ZERO, by William L. Laurence, is an eye witness story of the atomic bomb. Laurence received the Pulitzer prize for his account of the bombing of Nagasaki and for 10 subsequent articles in which he told of the development, production, and significance of the bomb. In this book he also discusses the potentialities and limitations of the use to which atomic energy may be put in civilian life.

Other non-fiction:

CHALLENGE OF POLIO, Berg; THE SINGING VOICE, Brown; AN AMERICAN YEAR, Borland; FUN AT SEA, Murray; NORTH AFRICA SPEAKS, Rosa; ROAD TO WIMBLEDON, Marble; ON THE EDGE OF EVENING, Weygandt; WAYS TO BETTER HEARING, Brentano; COSTUME DESIGN OF THE GAY NINETIES, Glover.

It is estimated that by 1950 there will be an automobile in use for every 4.2 persons in the United States, as compared to the previous peak of one car to every five persons in 1941.

German Scientists Work Secretly In United States to Produce Scientific Developments

By ROBERT VINCENT

WRIGHT FIELD—(INS)—A jet-propelled helicopter that looks like a flying pinwheel. . . .

A parachute full of holes, yet safer than any conventional design. . . .

A simple photograph of zebra-like stripes that measures airflow at supersonic speeds better than any known method. . . .

Gas turbine aircraft engines developing 1 to 12 thousand horsepower. . . .

Ceramic liners for the burners of jet engines that double or triple the life of the engines. . . .

These are just a few of the aircraft refinements being perfected for the Army Air Forces by a group of 86 German scientists who are at work in the AAF's sprawling Wright Field laboratories.

The helicopter is being perfected by 30-year-old Fritz Doblhoff, who prefers an American "mister" to his Viennese title of "baron."

The product of four years' work, his jet helicopter has had about 25 hours of hovering in Europe, but has not yet been placed in forward flight.

It is only about one-third the size of conventional helicopters of the same carrying capacity, and since it has no shaft to revolve the blades there is no torque problem. Hence this whirling, flying blowtorch does not need the same anti-torque propeller characteristic of American machines.

Motors Drive Blades.

The actual jet engines which drive the 30-foot rotor blades are in the very ends of the blades, and develop greater heats than the larger jet motors used on jet fighter planes Doblhoff claims his helicopter will be cheaper to manufacture and maintain than conventional jobs, but admits its fuel consumption is greater.

At Wright Field Doblhoff comes into daily contact with Lt. W. C. Anderson, of Baker, Ore., who was one of the B-24 pilots who bombed Doblhoff's plant at Weiner-Neustadt, 40 miles southeast of Vienna, in February of 1945.

The developers of the ribbon parachute also have been brought to Wright Field to finish their work They are Dr. Helmut Heinrich, a parachute expert at the Graf Zeppelin Institute, and his assistant, Dr. Theodor Knacke

They are now working in Wright's vertical wind tunnel, the largest of its kind in the world. Twelve feet in diameter and nearly three stories high, its 12 foot fan produces an upward blast of 155 miles an hour—believed to be enough to suspend a man in mid-air

The solid, conventional parachute shows marked instability in tests in the tunnel, and this instability is believed to be a major cause of parachute injuries. The ribbon chute, made of a network of small ribbons sewn together, is much more stable and reduces opening shock by 40 per cent

Measures Shock Waves.

Dr Theodor W. Zobel, who was head of the Herman Goering Institute during the war, is a wind tunnel expert who has perfected the "interference-Schlieren" method of measuring shock waves and pressures on a plane model

Zobel has built at Wright Field a small, 24-inch wind tunnel which attains a velocity of about 1,900 miles an hour. He combines this with a roomful of mirrors arranged in rectangular fashion, and a light with an output twice that of the sun, to actually take pictures of pressure and heat

Zobel's light generates 60 000 "stilb," or candlepower per square centimeter but can be stepped up by overloading briefly to 250,000 stilb The sun's output is 130,000 stilb

The gas turbine jets are the work of Dr. Heinz Schmitt, who developed the Junkers-004 engine used in German jet fighters He claims that reciprocating engines are all right up to two or three thousand horsepower, but predicts that aircraft engines of the future will be gas turbines with all transocean planes using such engines within five to ten years

When the Germans developed jet engines, they had no alloys for the liners of the burners As a result, they burned out quickly under the intense heat of the rocket-like blasts until they perfected ceramic liners These proved better than any alloy liners yet produced by any country

Quick to recognize the value of the replaceable liners, the AAF also brought to America Dr. Ernst Eckert, director of thermodynamics at the Prague Institute, and Dr. Eugen Ryschkewitsch, Russian-born chief engineer at the Degussa Works and Germany's foremost ceramics expert.

These men are among the leaders of the Germans working at Wright Field. They work in closest collaboration with Americans, but only those American processes that are absolutely necessary to their own work are made available to them. There is no chance, the AAF says, for them to secure any of America's top-flight secrets.

Try and Stop Me

—By Bennett Cerf

The year that the Olympic swimming meet was held in Los Angeles, according to a local historian, one of the diving champs saw a chance to make a little pin money by doubling for a star in a spectacular shot.

The day he appeared to do his stunt, the assistant director had forgotten to have the pool filled. "Hey, you goon," yelled the champ. "How do you expect me to do my dive when there's no water in the pool?"

"How do you like that?" exclaimed the assistant director to the world at large. "Five minutes on the set and he gets temperamental."

Abbot and Costello were in Baltimore unexpectedly one night, and sought a room at the Belvedere hotel. "All I've got available," said the clerk sorrowfully, "is the bridal suite. Do you, Abbott, take it?" "I do," said Abbott. "Do you, Costello, take it, too?" "I do," echoed Costello. The clerk thrust the registry at them and declared, "I now pronounce you room and bath."

ARMS TALKS OPEN

LONDON—(INS)—An authoritative government source said today that Russia would be welcomed at present Anglo-American military staff talks on the standardization of arms. The spokesman said that the talks to date have been concerned only with small arms and have not yet gotten around to other weapons.

PENCIL COLLECTOR NOW HAS 25,000

CHICAGO—(U.P.)—William Hausman, 49, loves pencils. He has 25,000 of them, and hopes to build his collection up to 1,000,000.

Hausman is one of the exhibitors at the Hobby Fair, where all sorts of oddities strike the eye.

He has pencils that look like guns, clothespins and flashlights. There's one a quarter of an inch long, and one 12 feet long. "And they all write," Hausman said. "It doesn't count unless they write."

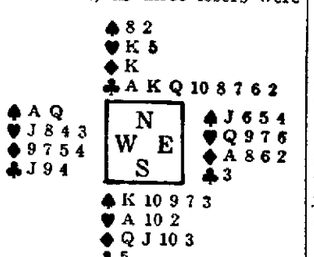
Barclay On Bridge

Is your hand of any value if your side gets into 3-No Trumps? When the answer to that is affirmative you would usually be thoroughly unsound if you made a high pre-emptive bid This is especially so if your pre-empt would be in a minor suit. A solid string of high cards in a long suit, which can be run as soon as your side gets the lead, is one of the nicest possible assets when seeking a No Trump game. It is particularly valuable if you have a side entry, for then you don't care whether your partner has any of your big suit or not

There was no earthly way for North to make his 5-Clubs at the first table, except by some slip of the defense, as three losers were certain—two in spades and one in diamonds. By the same token, there was no way to prevent a No Trump game, as bid at the second table In fact, an extra trick was a certainty, and more than one extra unless the opponents got their two spades and one diamond quickly.



(Dealer North. North-South vulnerable)

North	East	South	West
1 5♣	Pass	Pass	Pass
2. 1♣	Pass	1♠	Pass
3♣	Pass	3♦	Pass
3 NT

As actually played, North scored two extras East led the 6 of the unbid hearts The 2 was played from dummy, the J by West and the K by North The 10 was then finessed successfully, the A scored and then eight clubs.

REPORT CONDEMNS OCCUPATION TROOPS

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Republican members of the senate war investigating committee have published a secret report by committee counsel containing charges—denied by the army—of racketeering, smuggling and sexual immorality among American officers and troops stationed in Germany.

The report, published over state and war department protests, described the conduct of some soldiers as "little short of disgraceful", related instances of negro troops fraternizing with German girls, and charged that a recent group of occupation troops sent to Germany included men who "were not even high-grade morons."

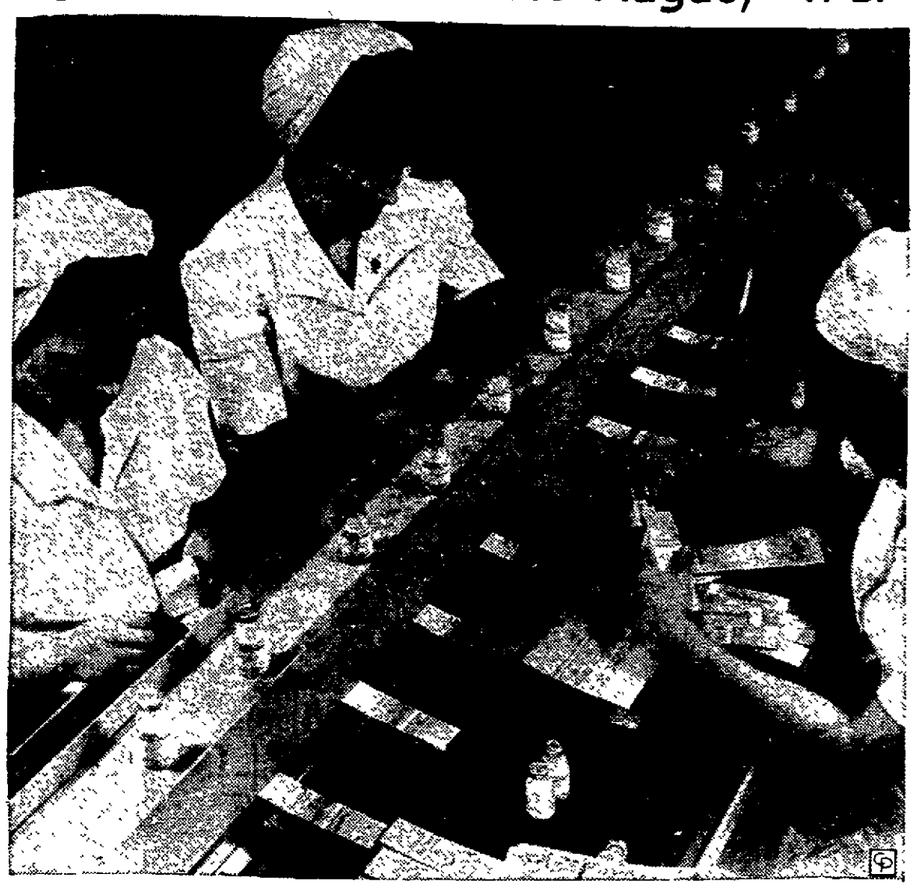
STREPTOMYCIN—Science's New Shield Against the Great White Plague, "T. B."



STREPTOMYCIN—Jars of the new miracle drug being packed in a Rahway, N. J., medical laboratory.

By MALVINA STEPHENSON
(Central Press Correspondent)

WASHINGTON — Science now has a good chance to win the long and difficult fight against tuberculosis.

Streptomycin, one of the new miracle drugs, may prove to hold the first real cure, and the strong faith of the medical world in this possibility has led to the inauguration of a costly clinical research program.

A highly significant experiment under the sponsorship of the American Trudeaux society, the medical branch of the American Tuberculosis association, got under way last month in nine key hospitals. At the same time, the Civilian Production Administration lifted controls on this precious drug, at least temporarily, in hopes that production would continue to multiply.

A limited test conducted through the National Research council showed streptomycin to be extremely effective in the treatment of tularemia (rabbit fever), influenza, and kidney infections. Results on the typhoid fever test were termed "disappointing and inconclusive," but the question of tuberculosis was thrown wide open.

Dr. Chester S. Keefer of Boston, chairman of the committee on chemotherapeutics of the National Research council, estimated that basic research to determine the value of streptomycin in the treatment of tuberculosis would cost around eight million dollars.

The medical profession is cautious but, nevertheless, very concerned over the outlook. Dr. Munroe J. Romansky, consultant in antibiotics to the Veterans Administration and the war department, recently attracted considerable attention at a Washington conference with his statement that streptomycin is the "outstanding weapon on hand" to combat tuberculosis.

Streptomycin now markets for about $7.50 a gram. Treatment may call for from one to four grams daily, for a minimum period of three months. And that is only a beginning. A clinical research program must involve a large number of cases, and extend over a period of several years.

Production is held back generally by the uncertainties of demand. The small output tends to keep the price up, which in turn limits sales. A major effort is being made to break this deadlock on all sides, just as penicillin was brought into full production with the $20-per-gram cost cut to around 50 cents.

The CPA lifted controls for November, pointing out that estimated production would be double that of September, when the initial allocations were made to a selected group of 1,652 depot hospitals in the United States and its territories. Under the current free system, hospitals and sanitariums may order streptomycin directly from suppliers. This, therefore, suspends the quota system, but sales direct to doctors are still forbidden.

City Prepared to Lease Land For $300,000 Naval Armory

Plans for the construction of a naval armory in Mansfield and the establishing of a city purchasing department were given a boost by city council Tuesday night with the passage of two bills.

Council accepted from the Parks commission jurisdiction over Ashland road armory grounds so that it can prepare to lease a part of the land to the navy. A $300,000 armory is to be built there to train some 300 men for the naval reserve.

An additional clerk was authorized at $150 a month for the service-safety office. The clerk will keep records of a proposed purchasing department. That department will coordinate all purchases and is designed to save the city money and materials.

The measure almost hit a snag when Councilman Charles N. Shultz objected to the fact that the bill followed so closely the reading of a letter from Mayor Roy W. Vaughn recommending hiring of a clerk.

* * *

Shultz Objects.

The letter was read early in the meeting and then legislation came up for passage a short time later. Shultz said councilmen didn't have time to study the measure before it came up for a vote, but Mayor Vaughn said he had conferred with all councilmen before the bill was introduced.

Referred to the street committee for action was a recommendation by William H. Zerby that the city provide for trimming and care of city trees. Zerby is a tree expert.

Zerby said that it is not clear who has jurisdiction over trees in property grass plots. A city ordinance, however, leaves jurisdiction to property owners. The city becomes liable for damages caused by trees only if the property owner failed to trim them and then the city, itself, failed to take action against the owner to compel action.

Approval of a wastepaper container license for John Gottfried was postponed to a special meeting to be held later this month.

Service-Safety Director William W. Enlow was authorized to let a contract for the construction of a water main in the Muth subdivision and for the construction of a sanitary sewer in the Burns-Stark streets area.

Sale of a city-owned, 1937 coupe model car was authorized and purchase of a $118 map for the planning commission was approved.

Chinese Communists Ready To Adopt Chiang's Strategy

By WALTER RUNDLE

SHANGHAI —(UP)— Chinese Communists will fight Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek with his own strategy—trading land for lives—in an underground war—if civil war breaks out in China.

Communist leaders believe an all-out civil war is both imminent and inevitable. They expect the "Communist extermination" campaign to begin at any moment. Every Nationalist troop movement is watched. The Communists plan to turn to their own advantage the tactics Chiang used so successfully against Japan.

The Communist military commanders know they can't stand up against American trained and equipped Nationalist armies in frontal warfare. They plan to fight an underground war—retreating when necessary, striking when possible.

Communist forces have been dispatched to protect Harbin in Manchuria. Other units are standing by to strike at the Nationalist armies moving toward the Communist capital of Yenan.

Commercial airline pilots have reported seeing Communist troops deploying in a sweeping semicircle from northeast Manchuria to the Korean border. Nationalist troops have surrounded Yenan and are massed near Harbin. The spark which may touch off a long winter of fighting could come from either side at any time.

Thirteen Communist regiments have moved out from Yenan to counter Nationalist positions. Communist units are being placed to carry out constant harassing attacks against Nationalist communication lines, supply bases, and convoys.

When the Communists gave up Kalgan without a fight—and then swung behind the Nationalists to cut the Kalgan-Peiping railway—their tactics were made clear.

They plan to use the same "withdrawing" strategy Chiang Kai-Shek used against the Japanese, backed up by lightning-like underground blows at Nationalist garrisons and supply lines.

The Union of South Africa is 472,550 square miles in area, one-sixth the size of the United States.

Make Your Shopping Adventure a Bright One!
Beef and the Budget—A Friendly Suggestion

While we appreciate, invite, and welcome the trade of those who can afford to eat what they want and buy what they like—

We do not overlook the importance of the trade of the majority of meat buyers who, like ourselves, are hard working citizens with more or less limited incomes, who must count their dimes, quarters and dollars, and can't spend it all in one place. We of this class must "budget"—whether we do it systematically or not.

To such buyers, we suggest—BEEF IS THE BEST BET in spreading your meat appropriation to insure maximum nutrition and eating satisfaction at minimum cash outlay. This is because the beef, on account of its comparatively larger size, affords MORE CUTS and MORE VARIETY OF SELECTION, from high price to low price purchases.

Whatever your wants, we are here to SERVE YOU WITH A SMILE.

Winchell

On Broadway

THE CHIEF WAR criminals who laid the lash to the backs of slave and concentration camp laborers for Adolf Hitler will shortly be indicted by the very able United States prosecutor, Brigadier General Telford Taylor. Thanks to the indefatigable Captain Sam Harris, the following cutthroats are expected to be charged with mass torture and mass murder.

* * *

Alfried Krupp von Bohlen und Halbach, former head of the huge Krupp Munitions Factories, and son of Gustav Krupp von Bohlen und Halbach. Gustav Krupp was indicted along with Goering, Hess, et al, but was not tried because his syphilitic condition prevented his removal to Nuremberg. Gustav, the father, was an opportunist, who threw in his lot with Hitler when he saw the possibility of huge profits under the Nazi regime and an opportunity to crush the progressive labor union at his factories.

Alfried, on the other hand, was a Nazi by conviction. He firmly believed in the Nazi preachings concerning a superior German race, and after succeeding his father as head of the Krupp factories, he mercilessly executed all policies of the Nazi party. The chief crime for which he must answer at the bar of justice is his responsibility for the slave labor program at the Krupp factory, under which concentration camp inmates, prisoners of war and foreign laborers were beaten, tortured and worked to death. Fritz Sauckel has been hanged for directing the Nazi slave labor program. Alfried Krupp will face similar charges.

Von Bulow, German diplomat, who later became boss of the "Works Police" at the Krupp factories; chief Krupp contact with the Gestapo; and head of the far-flung Krupp propaganda unit in foreign countries. He armed his guards with steel clubs in order to break the spirit of the Krupp slave laborers. When this did not completely accomplish his objective, he built steel cabinets, four feet high and two feet wide, into which slave laborers were crammed and tortured until they either succumbed to the iron discipline of the Gestapo or died.

Others are Hermann Schmitz, head of the huge I. G. Farben Trust; Karl Krauch, another leading figure in I. G. Farben; Max Ilgner, also a leading light in the trust; Baron Kurt Von Schroeder, notorious Nazi banker; Fredrich Flick, who became one of Germany's foremost steel and coal magnates because of his intimate association with the leading Nazis; Karl Goetz, S. S. Obersturnbannfuehrer Karl Rasche, S. S. Brigadefuehrer Fritz Kranefuss, and S. S. Brigadefuehrer Emil Meyer, top officers of the Dresdner Bank.

* * *

Unfortunately, Fritz Thyssen, Nazi steel baron who financed Hitler's accession to power, and Alfred Hugenberg, who furnished the ideas and money by which Hitler finally seized control of the German Government, will escape trial. The most they can get is ten years of imprisonment is acquittal of Schacht and Von Papen is a precedent. Proving that murder and torture records are cleaned if you pass them through a large enough bank!

Fair Enough

NEW YORK—Arthur M. Schlesinger, jr., who reviewed and praised in the New York Herald Tribune a book called "The Plotters," is a son of Arthur Meier Schlesinger, sr., a Harvard professor of history.

Young Mr. Schlesinger is precocious. He recently did a piece for Henry Luce's "Life" magazine purporting to give the lowdown on the Communist party in the United States. He named some CIO unions which are dominated by the Communists, but I found fault with him in that he might have emphasized the Communist influence in others, among them the New York Newspaper Guild, the Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers and the Office and Professional Workers' union, all of the CIO.

Young Schlesinger does not mention the National Citizens' Political Action committee, a creature of the CIO, although he does say that the greatest field of Communist penetration is the trade unions. The NCPAC is a Sidney Hillman political front and Schlesinger's father is a prominent member.

The house committee on un-American activities, formerly known as the Dies committee, compiled a great and reliable directory of persons, organizations and causes involved in the Communist and Fascist movements in the United States. It shows the attachment of many individuals to groups and causes which it investigated without necessarily suggesting guilt. However, by a decision of the supreme court in the Harry Bridges deportation case, an American, or even an alien, is without guilt even though he associate and cooperate with ideological enemies of the American government who advocate its destruction by violence, if in that association and cooperation he shall stop short of joining them in the advocacy of that final objective. Thus Prof. Schlesinger could gaily collaborate with inimical Communists and remain legally innocent.

THE FIRST MENTION of Prof. Schlesinger in the reports of the committee to congress occurs on page 265. There he is listed as a member of "the National Citizens' Political Action Committee."

"The National Citizens' Political Action Committee includes a formidable list of confirmed fellow-travelers and frontiers for Communist organizations," the report says. "It has been clearly established that the NCPAC is the major front organization of the movement. It represents the Communist party's supreme bid for power. It is clear that the major objective of the Hillman-Browder-CIO axis is the gaining of a dominant position in the councils of the Democratic party. The genius of the Communist-front organization is to secure the services of distinguished persons whose very names aid in concealing the real nature of the organization.

"Concerning Communist front organizations, the attorney general (Biddle) made the following observations: 'Testimony showed they were represented to the public for some legitimate reform objective, but actually used by the Communist party to carry on its activities pending the time when the Communists believe they can seize power through revolution'."

The report then relates that Biddle circulated among department heads of the executive branch of the government memoranda naming 25 organizations as subversive and Communist. The committee found that 82 of 141 members of Hillman's NCPAC had been associated with those 25 groups.

Prof. Schlesinger's biography in "Who's Who in America" lists many associations, but none of the foregoing.

Young Schlesinger's two articles in Life and the Herald Tribune emphasize the importance of his remark that the mysteries of Communism in the United States are most difficult to penetrate because the movement is so efficiently organized.

Today and Tomorrow

IT IS QUITE TRUE that the Franco regime will not disappear just because the United Nations adopt the resolution offered by this government. But it is no less true that the Franco regime will not disappear if we all break off diplomatic relations with Spain.

If our first step is to break diplomatic relations, then our second step—if Franco remains—would have to be a rupture of economic relations—a refusal to trade with Spaniards. If this did not work, the next step would have to be a blockade. The next step after that would have to be the creation of a Spanish government supported by troops of the United Nations.

Now it would be a great mistake to take the first step on this path unless we are all united and prepared to take all the others. If we were united and prepared to take all of them, then later perhaps—though even that is not certain—Franco would be forced out at some point in the series of steps.

But if we are not united and prepared to take the whole series of steps, then to take the first one or the second, and no more, would almost certainly be as ineffective as were the actions of the League of Nations against Japan and against Mussolini.

* * *

EXPERIENCE has demonstrated again and again that measures "short of war" do not work unless those who employ them are ready and willing to go to war. Since we do not mean to go to war with Spain, let us not take any of the steps which are significant only if they could lead to war. Let us not start something we do not mean to finish.

The proposal of the United States is a first step on a quite different path. It is an offer of assistance to the Spanish people in the exceedingly difficult and dangerous task, which they alone can perform, of removing a usurper and restoring legitimate government.

The next step, which may already be prepared, would be a pact of union among the leading parties in Spain—of all the parties except the die-hards of the extreme Right who are involved with Franco and the irreconcilables of the extreme Left.

The union of the parties inside Spain would have to rest on the principle of restoring legitimate government, excluding reprisals, granting amnesty and protecting the individual rights and the established interests which were lawful in Spain before Franco usurped power with the help of Hitler and Mussolini.

With such an agreement inside Spain, and a corresponding agreement among Spaniards in exile, the next step would almost certainly have to be an agreement with the Spanish army to remove Franco and to protect the provisional government.

* * *

FOR THIS, mediation may be required. But the mediator must be acceptable to the Spanish people. The United Nations as a whole cannot mediate between the legitimist Spanish parties and the Spanish army.

No one of the great powers—not Britain, not France, not the United States, not the Soviet Union—is qualified to mediate. All will be suspect because all are now engaged in a world-wide conflict of power.

The acceptable mediators—if any—must be governments which cannot be accused of using mediation to intervene for the purpose of controlling the destinies of Spain.

The obvious mediators would appear to be the Latin-American republics—individually or jointly. They cannot be suspected of having designs upon the independence of Spain. They speak not only the language of the Spanish people but the language of Spanish civilization.

Their friendliness cannot be doubted.

O'Neil's Emphasizes Brightness, Color

MANSFIELD NEWS-JOURNAL

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 5, 1946 TELEPHONE 4251-6 PAGE THIRTY-THREE

READY FOR BUSINESS—One of the first departments to be set up today in the M. O'Neil store was the gift department on the lower floor, while painters, carpenters and movers rushed finishing touches preparatory to the opening of the city's newest department store at 10 a. m. tomorrow. Already on the job, Mrs. Marjorie Brook of Mansfield who will be personal shopper at the store, begins selections from her book of orders. The store will take up the entire three floors of the Mohican building, formerly occupied by almost a score of offices and shops.—(News-Journal staff photo by Art Anderson)

STYLISH STORE OPENS WITH 75 DEPARTMENTS

Staff of 150 Sales Clerks Made Up For Most Part of Mansfielders.

O'Neil's, one of north central Ohio's most modern stores, will have on sale tomorrow for its opening at 10 a. m. about everything from pots and pans to Hattie Carnegie gowns.

And the big department store will open in a stylishly-revamped building outstanding for its brightness and color. Its opening marks the completion of the first of the postwar "face-lifting" projects which downtown Mansfield now has underway.

The store, housed in the old Mohican building and a portion of Neisner's, located immediately north of the main building, is under the management of Jack Miller. It is staffed by 150 sales clerks, mostly Mansfielders.

The extensive remodelling has provided O'Neil's with three complete floors with more than 40,000 square feet of space. By ingenious design, especially the use of different floor levels in departments on the same floor, an illusion of even more space is provided.

* * *

75 Departments and Annex.

In all, the store has 75 departments ,including a furniture annex.

Something new to Mansfield is a personal shopping service, under the direction of Mrs. Marjorie Brook of Mansfield. The store also will offer style shows and instruction in art needle work.

Design of the store was liberal in the use of plate glass, with show windows on Main, Third and Walnut streets, and with distinctive plate glass entrances.

The show windows also are of unusual design, with about half the display windows uninclosed. Miller, the store manager, said the full effect of the show windows would not be seen until the brown-out restrictions forced by the coal strike are lifted.

* * *

Terraza Flooring.

The main floor is laid in terraza, a marble-like stone inlaid with bronze stripping. Illumination of the main, or street, floor is furnished by "slim-line" fluorescent tubing.

Open wall space is lighted by tubing inclosed in half open panelling which directs the light against the walls. Much of the wall space, however, is devoted to cabinets and inclosed shelves.

The basement floor also has fluorescent lighting, somewhat different from the tubing used on the main floor. The basement is divided into two levels with wide steps running almost the width of the building leading to the lower level. Numerous stairways connect the three floors.

* * *

Second Floor Carpeted.

On the second floor heavy solid-color carpets laid on felt are underfoot. Largely devoted to women's and infants' clothing, it is lighted entirely by artificial illumination and has a more subdued air.

The furniture annex also is on a different level on the second floor, being situated in the Neisner building section.

The lower floor will feature electrical appliances, china, draperies, curtains, gifts, toys, house wares, yard goods and domestics.

On the main floor will be shown toilet goods and cosmetics, leather goods, handkerchiefs, ribbons, blouses, candy, lingerie and knit underwear, men's furnishings and clothing, and infant's and ladies' shoes.

The second and top floor will contain the furniture annex, ladies' and girls' ready-to-wear, infants' needs, millinery, pictures and mirrors, and the managing offices.

W. J. Gluckman, branch store manager, said the new store will feature Westinghouse electric appliances, and will carry 35 lines of gas ranges for immediate delivery.

FOUR AUTOISTS HURT IN CRASH; TWO SERIOUSLY

Three Are Injured as Car Hits Utility Pole.

Four Mansfield residents were injured, two seriously, in auto accidents last night and early today.

Injured when a car in which they were riding crashed into a utility pole were Mildred Foley, 33, and Elmer Foley, 34, both of 832 Springmill street, and Charles McCaskey, 66, of 813 Springmill street.

At General hospital today, the Foleys were reported in "fair" condition; McCaskey's condition was reported as good.

Officers said Mrs. Foley suffered a fractured nose and multiple face lacerations and Foley face lacerations and possible lung puncture.

The car, driven by Foley, struck a utility pole at Lexington and Grover avenue around 12:30 a. m. today. The Foleys were thrown against the windshield, which was shattered, officers said, and the steering wheel was snapped by the impact.

Officers Marion Hardesty, who with two other officers reported that Foley "had been drinking."

Robert F. Zoebst, 40, of rear 324 West Sixth street, was treated at General hospital for head lacerations and released following a head-on collision at Fifth and Diamond street around 7:30 p. m. yesterday.

Officers said that a car, driven by Mrs. Vernessa Smith, 48, of 136 East Fifth street, collided with Zoebst's car. She was charged with unsafe operation and failure to have an operator's license and ordered to traffic court Wednesday.

Admitted to General hospital with a fractured hip, was Elmer Lindsay, 71, of Granville. He is believed to have been injured in an auto accident Tuesday. Lindsay was in city jail yesterday on an intoxication charge when he complained of a sore hip. He said he was struck by a car in the Sixth and Main streets area Tuesday.

Public Asked To Help Keep Players Alive

It's up to Mansfielders to decide whether the Community Players, established 24 years ago, will continue as an active entertainment group or "die out for want of technical help."

Mrs. Helen Bacon, director of the players for the past 14 years, said today that "new blood and enthusiasm" were "desperately needed."

Mrs. Bacon, who received only a handful of replies to her request last week for persons interested in keeping the organization alive, said she wants to turn over the directorship to a qualified person.

"The Community Players have been carried along by a couple of persons for the last few years," Mrs. Bacon said. "It's not the actors we need, but the technical help in building the sets and taking charge of the necessary work which goes with every production the players put on."

She asked that anyone interested in the technical side of the productions get in touch with her so plans can be made for the season if the organization is to remain a factor in the cultural life of the community.

NEW DOG TAGS PLACED ON SALE

New copper-colored metal dog license tags for 1947 were on sale at the county auditor's office today. Deadline for purchasing new tags is Jan. 20.

County Auditor Norman L. Wolfe said his office had mailed reminders and application blanks to some 6,500 dog owners who obtained licenses last year. The remainder are cards on which space is provided for applications.

"The cards will be handy for those who are unable to come to the courthouse. All they need do is fill out the blank and mail it and the necessary fee to this office and the dog tag will be returned by mail," Wolfe said.

Fees are $1 for male and spayed female dogs and $3 for unspayed females. All dogs over three months of age must have a license. Unlicensed dogs caught after Jan. 20 will cause the levy of a $1 penalty upon their owners before release of the dogs.

Teachers Discuss Liberal English

Ways and means toward more liberal instruction in modern American usage of English were discussed at last night's meeting of the Mansfield Council of Teachers of English meeting in the public library.

A report on the National Council of Teachers of English, held recently at Atlantic City, was given by Miss Louise Lynch, president of the local council. Miss Dorothy Van Voorhis and Miss Virginia Mickey, both from Bowman elementary school, also attended the national meeting.

Crestline Canteen Served More Than Million During War Years

Approximately 1,250,000 men and women of the armed forces were served food at the Crestline Canteen during its four years of service, it was revealed today in the final report of the committee in charge.

The canteen, which operated from August, 1942, until February, 1946, was located most of the time in a building near Big Four and Pennsylvania depot. Ground for the building was given by the railroads and the building itself was erected with money contributed by Crestline school children.

As many as 5,000 service men and women were served in one day and various civic organizations and women's clubs, in Richland county did their share in making the canteen one of the most successful in the nation.

Cash donations and collections from Jan. 1942 to Feb. 22, 1946 totaled $31,253.94. Disbursements were $30,505.70, leaving a balance on hand of $748.24.

Crestline was the largest donor. It contributed $15,519, and Mansfield was second with a total of $4,806.

Cash contributions came from nearly every town in Crawford, Richland and adjacent counties, several from cities throughout Ohio and from as far away as New York.

The canteen operated a total of 1,299 days, distributed as follows: 1942, 150 days; 1943, 365 days, 1944, 365 days, 1945, 365 days and 1946, 53 days.

Approximately three committees served daily at the center, making a total of 3,897 committees. The exact amount of money spent for food cannot be estimated, according to the report, because each committee donated such food items as meat, cakes, cookies, vegetables, fruits and sweets.

Mrs. John Moran served as president of the organization. From August 1942 until February 1944, Mrs. Harry Kraner was secretary and treasurer; J. C. Emerick was treasurer from February 1944 until March 1946 and Miss Mary V. O'Leary acted as secretary of the financial committee from November 1943 until February 1946, when the canteen closed.

Members of the official board included L. F. Walbauer, H. T. Gall and F. M. Teeters.

Included in the report were expressions of thanks from board and committee members and Mrs. Moran to all who aided in making the canteen a success.

David K. Stewart of Cleveland, Scotch humorist, entertained members of the Men's club of the First Presbyterian church and their wives in the church parlors last night.

The occasion was the final social event of the club for the year. About 140 sat down to dinner. A gardenia was given to each wife present.

Cuff Stuff

PROS AND CONS of the new rule designed to end stalling tactics in the final minutes of play in basketball games are being argued these days by officials and coaches . . . The rule, written by the National basketball rules committee and applicable to high school games, says that during the final four minutes of a game time will be halted every time a goal is made, penalty called, jump ball called or the ball goes out of bounds . . . Heretofore the clock stopped only at the signal of a foul or for a called timeout . . . However, with the advent of the new rule teams may not call time in the final four minutes.

The rule is designed to prevent teams clinging to leads near the close of games from using time in assuming positions for jump ball and out-of-bounds plays . . . H. V. Porter, secretary of the National rules committee, says that games last only 32 seconds longer under the four-finute clause . . . This figure is based on a 1,000 game survey.

One Ohio official a couple of week's ago worked a game that required nearly 20 minutes to play the last four minutes . . . This was undoubtedly an exception but if it happened several times during tournament play fans would be sitting in the bleachers almost "'til the end of time."

Ashland High Quint Boasts Six Veterans

ASHLAND — Basketball prospects are bright at Ashland high school with six lettermen bidding for starting berths.

The sextet are holdovers from the A's fine 1945-46 club which waltzed through a 20-game schedule with only four setbacks. Coach C. E. Taylor is starting his second year at the helm of the Ashland aggregation which recently scrimmaged Ashland college and lost only 41-40.

Dick Messner is the lone regular returning from last year's quintet but the stocky forward is really some shakes as a pointgatherer. He garnered 226 points last year, an average of 11.3 a game.

Ashland opens it 1946-47 campaign tomorrow night when they entertain Cleveland Rhodes. Mansfield John Simpson Junior high school plays the Ashland reserves in the prelim at 7:15.

Carl Strine, Joe Weirick, Jack Boeh, Bob Harpster and Don Drebus are the other lettermen, but only Drebus is tabbed for a starting shot. The other three positions will be held by Dave Burns, Dick Cooper and Mike Glasser of last season's reserve five.

Other reserves vying for positions are: Norm Fierbaugh, Ed Nelson, Dick Patton, Jack McAllister and Tony Glasser.

Ashland goes to Narwalk Saturday night.

Lexington and Butler Favored To Retain Grip on First Place

Lexington and Butler are favored to retain their grip on the top rung of the Richland county basketball ladder in tomorrow night's feature attractions on the four game league slate.

Lexington and Butler have cashed in a pair of loop victories apiece and play host to Plymouth and Shiloh, respectively. Plymouth, a team which has lost only to Butler, may give the Minutemen trouble, however.

Coach John Rees' Lexington cagers dropped from the unbeaten ranks Tuesday when they slipped before Cardington, 37-30, while Plymouth made its record two wins and a loss by dropping New Haven, 32-24.

Butler has had little trouble disposing of Lucas and Plymouth and expects to take Shiloh easily. The latter team is tied with Union for the league cellar.

In the other county loop contests, Lucas plays at Bellville and Ontario goes to Union. Lucas and Bellville have each broken even in league play and their clash may be the most interesting on the docket.

Bellville ran over Shiloh, 41-22, and fell before Ontario, 31-28, while Lucas tripped Union, 34-27, and lost to Butler, 44-31.

College Grid Spirales Toward New High Attendance Figures

NEW YORK—(AP)—College football attendance spiralled toward a new high in 1946 with a survey of 87 leading colleges reporting a 48.4 per cent increase over last year, topped by Michigan's 514,579 count at its Ann Arbor stadium.

On the basis of the Wolverines' reported gross of $1,121,000, big time football drew well over $22,000,000 at the box office with at least 20 bowl games still to be added.

Crowding Michigan for top honors was the University of Pennsylvania which attracted 502,000 for seven games at Franklin field in Philadelphia. They were the only colleges to better the half million mark.

Next in line among the first 10 in home drawing power were UCLA, 429,423; Ohio State, 371,017; California, 367,000; Yale, 357,000; Minnesota, 326,913; Tulane, 298,430; Southern California, 297,119; and Northwestern, 289,000.

Grid interest showed the sharpest spurt in the South where a 58 per cent increase was noted in a survey of 26 schools drawing 2,528,032. Tulane, Louisiana State, Miami and Georgia were among the pace-setters.

Texas almost doubled its 1945 total by packing in 228,000 for six games.

The Middle West proved to be the most football-minded sector, drawing a total of 3,580,783.

Although Penn piled up the highest eastern total, Yale's increase from 186,007 in 1945 to 357,000 in 1946 was outstanding. Harvard sold out its stadium, seating 57,700, for the first time since 1937 in the Yale game and Cornell's gate soared to a new all-time high of 102,000 from a puny 33,800 last season.

Jacobs Improves

NEW YORK—(AP)—Fight Promoter Mike Jacobs, 66, remained in serious condition today although his physicians said he had shown a slight improvement. He suffered a cerebral hemorrhage Tuesday.

Trade Winds Blowing At Baseball Meeting

By TED SMITS

LOS ANGELES—(AP)—Baseball trading appeared to be picking up today as the major leaguers opened their off-season meeting crosstown from the minor circuit sessions.

While announcements might not be made immediately, it was considered certain that a number of important deals were cooking.

Business Manager William Mulligan of the Portland Pacific Coast league club announced purchase of Tommy Bridges, veteran right-hander, from the Detroit Tigers.

Pittsburgh announced the farming of Outfielder Tommy O'Brien to Oakland as part payment for the budding young outer gardener, Wally Westlake. O'Brien was with Hollywood last season.

Latest candidate for the coveted job of Los Angeles' manager was Charles (Red) Ruffing, New York Yankee. The pitcher got his outright release after injuring a knee. Indications today were that Billy Jurges, mentioned for the berth, would remain with the Chicago Cubs.

The Cincinnati Reds signed Long George Kelly as a coach, and Cleveland sold Second Baseman Lambert (Dutch) Meyer to Newark.

The moving of Meyer, who batted .292 in 130 games in 1945, was believed connected with the previous Yankees-Cleveland trade whereby the Indians received Joe Gordon for Allie Reynolds. Newark is a Yankee farm.

The Yankees also figured indirectly in the signing of Jim (Milkman) Turner as Portland manager. The Coast league club announced a one-year contract for the former relief hurler who managed Beaumont, Tex., another Yankee farm, last year. An informal Yankee-Portland tie-up was indicated.

Elsewhere along the diamond mart:

Brooklyn Dodgers swapped Infielder Eddie Basinski to Pittsburgh for Pitcher Al Gearhauser, who was ticketed for the Dodgers' Montreal farm.

Toronto took on Elmer Yoder, former Boston Red Sox scout, as manager. Yoder piloted Scranton in the Eastern league in 1946.

New York Giants sold First Baseman Mike Schemer to Sacramento of the Coast league.

Detroit released Paul Richards so the veteran receiver could sign as Buffalo manager. The Tigers also sold Infielder Jim Bloodworth to Pittsburgh.

The Red Sox sold Pitcher Clem Dreisewerd to Louisville.

Cincinnati Reds signed Paul Florence, former Birmingham general manager, in a capacity to be announced.

St. Paul sold Outfielder John Rizzo to Sacramento for cash and a player acceptable to the Saints.

Kansas City sent First Sacker Johnny Sturm to Seattle in a cash deal.

Chappuis Honored

ANN ARBOR, Mich.—(INS)—Bob Chappuis, Michigan's star left halfback, held the title today of the Wolverines' "most valuable" football player in the past season.

Cleveland Barons Rock Hershey Pucksters, 5-2

The Hershey Bears' supremacy in the American Hockey league, while acknowledged by the rest of the clubs comprising the eastern division, failed to awe the Cleveland Barons, leaders in the west.

The Barons last night broke the Bears' seven-game winning streak with a 5-2 victory as their part of a three-game league program that saw the western teams dominating.
